The '82 Outlook

'82 Outlook

Notre Dame football coach Gerry Faust is the first to admit his first year as a collegiate head coach turned out to be a tremendous learning experience.

Faust will be out to prove just how much he learned during his 5-6 baptism season as he and his 1982 Fighting Irish tackle another imposing schedule with an experienced crew featuring 19 returning starters.

"We're all anxious to get out and prove ourselves after last season," admits Faust. "We had the determination a year ago, but things just didn't bounce our way. None of us enjoyed going 5-6, and I think you'll see our players display a great deal of intensity because of what they went through last fall."

Notre Dame tackles Bluebonnet Bowl champion Michigan to open the '82 slate—in the first-ever night game played at Notre Dame Stadium. The Irish play host to Miami (9-2 in '81) three weeks later.

The November agenda includes Sugar Bowl winner Pittsburgh, Fiesta Bowl champion Penn State and always-tough USC—with only the Nittany Lions, of those three, visiting South Bend. All five of those teams finished among the top 15 in the final Associated Press rankings last season.

"The schedule is awfully tough, tougher even than last year," adds Faust. "But, after a year on the sidelines, I at least know what to anticipate and where we need to improve. A year ago at this time, I wasn't sure what to expect either from our team or from our opponents."

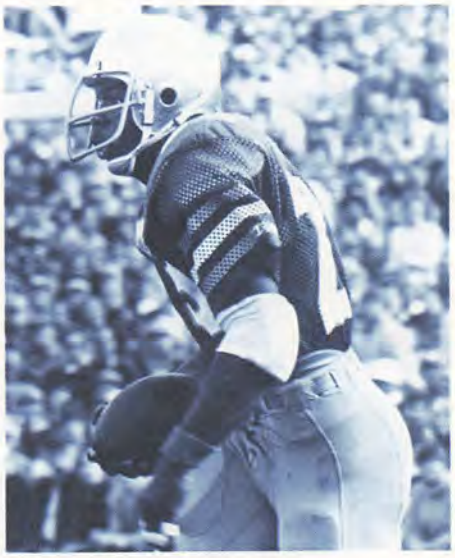
The graduation losses of All-Americans Bob Crable at middle linebacker and John Krimm at cornerback are big ones for the Irish defense to handle. Those two, however, are the sole defensive regulars missing—and standout offensive tackle Phil Pozderac is the only starter missing on that side of the line.

Faust figures to be able to call upon monogram-winners at nearly every position, thanks to 38 returning lettermen overall. Among those 19 starters back are 11 who opened against unbeaten Georgia in the '81 Sugar Bowl. Yet, competition figures to be so fierce for several of those starting spots that Faust expects a handful of incumbents to have difficulty holding on to their jobs.

"If we can develop some depth, avoid injuries and get good performances out of a couple of key positions, we should be able to show marked improvement," says the Irish head coach.

Senior tailback Phil Carter, one of the '82 tri-captains, heads up a noteworthy list of battle-tested offensive backfield returnees. He'll again keynote an Irish running game that returns its top nine ground-gainers from last fall.

Linebacker Mark Zavagnin



Safety Dave Duerson

Tight End Tony Hunter

Tailback Phil Carter

Carter has rolled up 1,549 rushing yards the last two seasons despite untimely leg injuries which limited his playing time both years. Junior Greg Bell also is back at tailback after lending productive assistance at wingback the last half of the '81 campaign.

The triumvirate of seniors Larry Moriarty and John Sweeney and sophomore Mark Brooks returns to give the fullback spot a bountiful look. They combined for 80 rushing attempts while shouldering the bulk of the load at that position a year ago.

Junior Blair Kiel is in solid position as the frontrunner at quarterback, thanks to the 15 starting assignments he logged his first two seasons. He's the obvious top hand in terms of experience—and Faust expects his renewed confidence and sharpened fundamental skills to pay dividends this fall.

Accomplished senior Tony Hunter, Notre Dame's receiving leader the last two years, will devote full time to the tight end spot this fall after injuries to other players forced him to play wingback, split end and tight end as a junior. Sophomore speed demon Joe Howard is back to man the flanker spot after breaking into the lineup with a midseason splash as a rookie split end.

The Irish will utilize a new blocking alignment along the offensive line in '82—but the personnel will have a familiar look with guards Tom Thayer and Randy Ellis, tackle Mike Shiner and center Mark Fischer all classified as returning starters.

Senior captains Dave Duerson at free safety and Mark Zavagnin at middle linebacker headline a Notre Dame defensive unit that welcomes back nine regulars from a group that gave up only 14.5 points per game last fall.

Despite that experience, sophomores like Mike Gann, Mike Golic, Mike Larkin and Joe Johnson all showed signs that starting assignments could be within their grasp before the '82 season kicks off on September 18.

Even with the departure of Crable, the Irish linebacking corps of Zavagnin, junior Rick Naylor and Larkin—with certain help at one of those spots from veteran senior Joe Rudzinski—should be a nifty one. Zavagnin, a premier performer, has trailed only Crable in tackles each of the last two seasons—and he also led Notre Dame last fall with three interceptions.

Up front there again are plenty of seasoned hands available. Look for Golic to battle senior Kevin Griffith for the end position—with seniors Bob Clasby and Pat Kramer, juniors Tim Marshall and Jon Autry and Gann scheduled to contest the three down tackle spots.

The Notre Dame pass defense ranked 16th in the nation a year ago, and it should be at least as good this time around. Junior Chris Brown moves in at weakside cornerback, while classmate Stacey Toran takes over Krimm's strong corner slot following two campaigns as the regular on the weak side. Duerson is an all-star free safety, while senior Rod Bone must fight off the bid of Johnson to maintain supremacy at strong safety.

Senior Mike Johnston inherits the placekicking job from Harry Oliver, while Kiel returns after two seasons as the Irish punter with his 40.0-yard career average.

Duerson, Zavagnin, Thayer, Hunter and Carter should be Notre Dame's top candidates for All-American honors—with Griffith and Marshall also attracting preseason recognition.

Offense

Gerry Faust has a handful of reasons why his '82 Notre Dame offense should be better equipped for battle—but tops on the list is the fact the Irish will head into the fall with a solid number-one field general.

Junior quarterback Blair Kiel earned that honor, thanks to a sophomore campaign that featured 67 completions in 151 attempts for 936 yards and seven touchdowns, plus a steady springtime effort that put a clamp on the job. Sophomore Ken Karcher and senior walk-on Jim O'Hara will contest the backup role.

"We wanted to make a definite decision on a quarterback, and we were able to do that," says Faust. "We wanted one clear-cut choice for the job, because that's something we didn't have a year ago. Blair showed us more of the consistency we wanted, plus his confidence seemed to be increased."

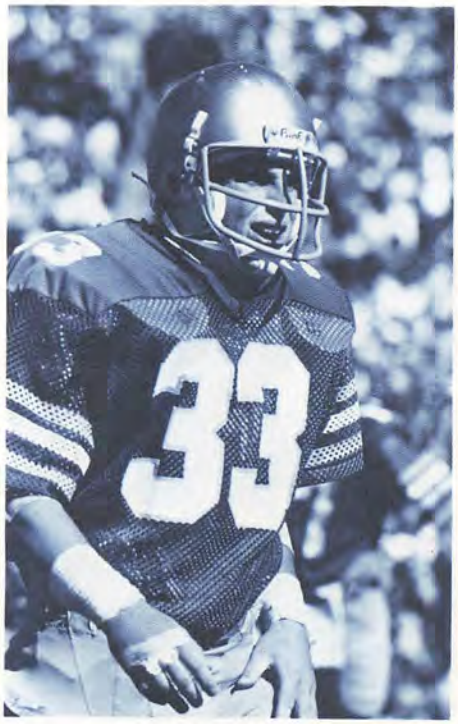
Kiel will direct a running game that will originate out of an I-formation or splitback alignment—while the Irish aerial plans should benefit from the elimination of the wingback and the reinstatement of the flanker as an additional wide receiver.

Tailback Phil Carter (165 carries for 727 yards, 6 TDs) expects a banner season, especially if he can overcome the injury bugaboo that curtailed some of his ground-gaining the past two years. He's a compact, elusive runner with the punch to go inside when it's necessary. He'll also benefit from the fulltime assistance of junior Greg Bell (92 carries for 512 yards, 4 TDs), who spent the final half of '81 at wingback. Both players are more-than-capable receivers (they combined for 25 catches for 192 yards in '81), and Bell again should be the top kickoff returner.

"Phil Carter has the tools to be a top-flight tailback, no question about that,"

Quarterback Blair Kiel

Tailback Greg Bell



Fullback John Sweeney

Fullback Larry Moriarty

says Faust. "But last year we learned that, with the schedule we play at this level and the injuries you run into, one great running back is hardly enough. That's why we wanted Greg Bell back there on a regular basis. He and Phil give us a nice combination there."

Fullback figures to be even deeper—possible tops on the squad in terms of depth—with seniors Larry Moriarty (20 carries for 94 yards) and John Sweeney (36 carries for 168 yards) and sophomore Mark Brooks (24 carries for 126 yards) all in the picture. Moriarty brings a slight competitive edge over the other two into fall drills—but the advantage is ever so slight.

The strong-blocking Sweeney has started 30 games over the last three seasons—and he's the steadiest and most consistent all-around player of the trio. Moriarty ranks as the most explosive ball-carrying threat, while Brooks is a younger combination version of the two seniors.

"We have three solid people at fullback, but—like at quarterback—we would like to get to the point where we use one of them on a more consistent basis," Faust explains.

Senior Tony Hunter (28 catches for 397 yards) and sophomore Joe Howard (17 catches for 463 yards) are worlds apart in physical stature, but they'll combine to provide the Irish with a powerful pass-catching duo at tight end and flanker, respectively.

Hunter will stick at tight end this season after being forced to help out at three spots a year ago because of other injuries. He's got the hands and moves to rival any tight end around—and his presence on pass patterns should cause headaches for any opposing linebacker or secondary player. Howard gives Notre Dame just the sort of outside threat Faust loves. Junior Mike Favorite and converted defensive back Bumper Schiro will be the players to beat for the split end job after they shared time at that spot last spring.

"Tony is strong enough at 225 to do the job blocking at tight end," says Faust. "We already know how well he can catch the football. And if there was one player who taught us the importance of speed last year it was Joe Howard. There still should be plenty of competition for the split end job, and eventually we hope to find someone there who can be as dangerous as Howard."

One of the keys to Notre Dame's offensive improvement should be the play of the offensive line. The experience is available, so Faust hopes a couple of position changes and a redefined blocking scheme will do the trick.

All-star strong guard candidate Tom Thayer joins fellow seniors Randy Ellis at quick guard and Mark Fischer at center to provide the middle three positions with a settled look. That leaves senior John Putzstuck at strong tackle to fill in for Phil Pozderac and junior Mike Shiner to handle the quick tackle role in his third year as a regular.

By employing a strong guard and tackle on the tight end side and a quick guard and tackle toward the split end side, the Irish will be able to flip-flop the line when necessary, depending on formations and field position. The new system should be a large step toward the desired consistency up front.

"It's a simpler concept for the players because it cuts down on the number of assignments a player must master," says Faust. "It also will give us more diversity in positioning people according to their strengths, and it should give more of our bigger people the opportunity to help."

Thayer will anchor the line in his third season as a starter, after opening at tackle as a junior and guard as a sophomore. He switched starting roles with Shiner, who played regularly at guard in '81 and tackle the previous fall. Look for junior letterman Neil Maune to aid the cause at strong guard as well.

Fischer must regain the strength and 20 pounds he lost in a springtime bout with mononucleosis to maintain his hold on the center position. Thayer also is capable of helping at that spot as he did during spring workouts.

The strong tackle and quick guard positions could feature spirited tussles before the '82 campaign begins. Ellis will battle sophomore Mike Kelley, who came on strong to start the last two games a year ago, at guard on the quick side. Putzstuck must hold off the bid of sophomore Larry Williams, who has helped at both guard and tackle.

"The entire offensive line is an example of an area where we've got to make better use of our personnel and our quickness. The new alignment should enable us to get more out of the players we have, especially since we have plenty of people with the size we like. We think people like Tom Thayer and Mike Shiner are top-quality linemen, and this enables us to better define their roles."

Defense

A healthy dose of experienced returnees combined with a talented group of sophomores should enable Notre Dame's defense to blend veteran and youthful contingents in '82.

Nine returning regulars are back in hopes of reclaiming their starting roles from '81—but at least a quartet of second-year players served notice those jobs won't be easy to retain.

The changes begin up front where Faust and his defensive assistants have reworked their 5-2 alignment that includes an end on the left side, three down tackles and the strongside linebacker on the right flank.

Senior Kevin Griffith (63 tackles, 3 fumble recoveries), who paced the linemen in tackles last fall, finished the '81 campaign as the contain tackle starter—and he's benefitting from an extra year of eligibility this fall after missing the '80 campaign with knee problems. He remained out of spring drills to strengthen those knees, and, so, must battle sophomore Mike Golic for the end position this fall. Golic played there all spring, following extensive late-season duty as a freshman in '81.

Another senior-sophomore battle is anticipated at flip tackle between second-year-man Mike Gann and veteran Pat Kramer. Gann, like Golic, made impressive contributions late in his rookie campaign—while Kramer must rebound from a shoulder injury that sidelined him the majority of '81 and earned him an additional season of eligibility. Gann played enough to earn a monogram as a freshman, while Kramer has 15 previous starting bids behind him.

The one-two punch at nose tackle features juniors Tim Marshall (44 tackles, 1 fumble recovery) and Jon Autry (30 tackles), two players who were starters elsewhere on the defensive line in '81. Marshall's quickness enabled him to play more than any other defensive lineman last fall, though he saw most of his action at flip tackle. Autry claimed the starting end position a year ago but also will provide additional speed inside this time around.

Senior Bob Clasby (56 tackles) takes over at contain tackle this fall after working out of the nose tackle slot in '81. As on the offensive line, Faust is hoping the position changes will subtly enable the Irish to optimize the strengths of the individuals up front.

"We made the adjustments we wanted to make, and now we're hoping they'll pay off in terms of overall quickness and in terms of helping us locate and maximize depth," Faust says. "People like Marshall, Kramer, Clasby, Griffith and Autry all have good experience. Now we hope we can enable them to do a better job of pressuring the quarterback. That'll be the key to defensive improvement."

The loss of Bob Crable notwithstanding, the Irish are deep in quality all across the board at linebacker. Senior tri-captain Mark Zavagnin (94 tackles, 3 interceptions) moves into the middle where Crable played and should be a rock despite the big shoes he has to fill. Sophomore Mike Larkin proved he's ready for full-time duty last spring and should add some ever-helpful quickness to the unit.

Two-year starter Joe Rudzinski (35 tackles) missed portions of the '81 campaign and all of spring workouts while a shoulder injury heals—so he'll probably contest the strongside job with junior Rick Naylor (26 tackles). Whoever starts from that quartet, Notre Dame will be well represented at linebacker—and additional quality depth will come from among senior Jack Shields in the middle, junior Tom Murphy on the weak side and sophomore Joe Bars on the strong side. Sophomore Chris Smith, after a noteworthy debut at tailback as a freshman, requested a springtime switch to linebacker and should be a certain contributor once he settles in. He helped out at all three spots last spring.

"Sure we lost a great player in Crable, but I like the looks of things at linebacker," Faust says. "We've got good people in there with experience, especially with a player the caliber of Zavagnin, and we can afford to go at least two deep in players with game experience behind them."

Notre Dame's starting quartet in the secondary earns a blue ribbon, but the Irish definitely need to locate additional depth at those four spots. Three returning starters are in the fold—though none of the three will be starting at the same position as a year ago.

Junior Stacey Toran (54 tackles, 2 interceptions), a two-season starter at weakside cornerback, now takes over the strongside responsibilities for graduated all-star John Krimm. Classmate Chris Brown is slated to move into the weakside spot after lettering twice as Krimm's backup the past two seasons.

Junior John Mosley, a converted wingback, will provide quality assistance following his midspring switch from offense. He proved to be a solid hitter and caught on quickly—but the Irish coaches know they need extra help in this area.

The safety spots should be quite ably handled, thanks to the presence of tri-captain Dave Duerson, senior Rod Bone and sophomore Joe Johnson. The hard-tackling Duerson (55 tackles, 2 interceptions) should rank as one of the best free safeties around. He played cornerback as a freshman regular, then spent the last two years at strong safety.

Johnson (22 tackles, 1 interception, 1 fumble recovery) played more minutes than any freshman defender in '81—and he laid claim to the starting strong safety job last spring with Bone bothered by a knee injury. The starter at free safety most of '81, Bone (36 tackles) could wrest the strong safety job back from Johnson—or provide quality backup support as the fifth defensive back while playing either safety slot. Junior Daane Spielmaker is another all-around utility man who can assist anywhere.

"We've got the makings of a good secondary," claims Faust, "as long as we stay healthy and also locate some people we can depend on in backup roles. I felt, overall, our defensive backfield did a creditable job on pass defense a year ago, and it should be better if we can count on an improved rush from the front line."

Linebacker Joe Rudzinski

Cornerback Stacey Toran

Kicker Mike Johnston

Safety Rod Bone

Kicking Game

Senior Mike Johnston will be the top name in the placekicking department—and he'll also challenge for the kickoff duties. Johnston has earned monograms each of the last two seasons while handling kicking-off chores and serving as Harry Oliver's backup. Next in line is sophomore walk-on Chris Smith.

Junior Blair Kiel is the best bet for the punting job since he has been steady in that role the past two seasons. He finished with a 39.9-yard average in '81 and owns a 40.0-yard career mark. Walk-on Mike Viracola also is a candidate if needed.

Sophomore Kevin Kelly again will handle all snapping chores for the specialty teams.

Four new staff members will be aiding Faust on the field in '82.

Ron Hudson, offensive backfield coach at UCLA the last three years, takes over the Irish quarterbacks and receivers. The 36-year-old native Californian came highly recommended by San Francisco 49er coach Bill Walsh following previous stops at Stanford, California and Oregon.

Carl Selmer, a veteran of 24 years coaching the offensive line in the collegiate ranks, is Faust's new head offensive line coach. He earlier spent two seasons as head coach at Miami (Fla.) and also served 11 years as Bob Devaney's line coach at Nebraska.

Tom Lichtenberg, who handled the quarterbacks and receivers last fall, will coach the running backs this year in addition to retaining his offensive coordinator responsibilities. Greg Blache, who tutored the running backs a year ago, now is in charge of the defensive line.

Jay Robertson, an assistant at Wisconsin the last two seasons, is assisting Blache with the defensive line. The 41-year-old former Northwestern captain worked the four previous seasons at Northern Illinois after nine years with his alma mater.

Handling the scouting, junior varsity and prep teams will be 40-year-old Mike Stewart, head coach at St. Xavier High School in Louisville, Ky., the last six seasons.

Faust Looks at '82

Q. What are your general reactions to your first season at Notre Dame?
A. If anything, I'm more in love with Notre Dame now than I was when I first arrived. The administration, the students and the alumni all have been super. I couldn't have enjoyed it more—except for those six Saturdays we lost. The whole season was a great learning experience, there's no question about that. We made some mistakes and we went about some things the wrong way, but those are the kind of things that happen the first year. The ball just didn't bounce our way. I feel more comfortable now just because I'll know what to expect this time. I know what needs to be done and where we need to improve.

Q. What are the most important things you learned from the '81 season?
A. On strictly a personal basis, I had to learn how to handle losing football games. I didn't have much experience in that area, and I probably let it affect me more than it should have the first few times it happened. I still don't enjoy losing, but I realize now that it's something that you have to accept at this level. You can't expect to go 11-0 every year. This year I'll be better able to learn from the defeat and then put it behind me. The one other point that sticks out in my mind is the idea that every team on our schedule has a chance to beat us if we're not physically and mentally prepared. The differences at this level, even between the 11-0 teams and the 4-7 teams, are small enough that you can't expect to overpower anyone. You've got to be ready to play. And the thought of beating Notre Dame is such an incentive for our opponents that we have to be that much better prepared.

Q. How would you describe your transition to the college game last year?
A. When I look back now, I realize what a difficult thing that period of adjustment was—both for me and for the players. It's a big transition, and that's the word for it, no matter how much you think you know about football. I had to learn the players, what to expect from them and how best to handle them—and they had to do the same with me. We'll all be a lot better off now that we have a season behind us. A year ago I was optimistic and excited, but I still didn't know exactly what was going to happen when I got down on the sidelines on Saturday afternoons. Now I have a much better idea of where we need to be and the preparations that need to be made.

Q. What are your general feelings about the '82 season?
A. I think you'll see a group of players and coaches who very much want to redeem themselves after last season. Going 5-6 was tough. I didn't like it at all, and I know our players didn't like it. There really is nothing any of us can say until we start winning football games again. We made mistakes, we learned from them, and we'll improve. I don't think there's any question we have talent on this team. I think we should be able to do a better job with it this year, just because we'll be able to make the little adjustments that need to be made. We've all had a full year to learn the system, and that should make a tremendous difference. We all feel strongly about wanting to put Notre Dame football back up where it was. And we know we've got a lot of work ahead of ourselves in order to do that.

Q. What will the offense look like this fall?
A. The biggest item we learned last fall was that simplicity can be the best way to go. We probably began the year trying to do too much. We've cut back this year and hopefully we'll be able to do a better job of perfecting the things we will be running. A big key in the spring was having Blair Kiel win the quarterback job outright. We didn't have the luxury of making an early decision at that spot last year—and I really feel like it will make a big difference this season. Blair knows what we want, and I think he'll have much more confidence in himself. All of our running backs return with another year of experience behind them. Plus, we'll be leaving Greg Bell at tailback on a full-time basis and that should be a great help. Instead of using a wingback like last year, we're calling that position the flanker and looking at him strictly as a receiver. We know Joe Howard can handle that job, and all we need to do is settle on another player at split end who can be that sort of threat. Having Tony Hunter at tight end all year should really help our short passing game. Up front, we have plenty of people who have played before—so it's just a matter of putting them where we want them and looking for more consistency as a unit.

Q. How about the defense?
A. Our defense has a chance to be good, again because a lot of individuals with experience are available. We hope to do a better job of positioning them this fall. People like Dave Duerson, Mark Zavagnin and Tim Marshall should be able to help us even more now because we know what they can do best and we've put them in the position to do it. We're like every other team, we never feel we have enough depth, especially in the secondary this year. But our defense wasn't all that bad last fall. We've technically got nine starters back from that group, plus we had a number of sophomores really make an impression last spring, so it won't be easy for every one of those nine to hold onto their jobs. That should make for some good competition for those spots yet this fall. If we can be more consistent overall and avoid giving up the big play, we'll be improved.

Q. In what particular areas of your '82 team are you looking for improvement?
A. Quarterback, the offensive line and the defensive line are three areas, in particular, where we look for improvement. We went a long way toward helping at quarterback with Blair Kiel winning the job. With that situation settled, we can do a better job of organizing our offense and tailoring it toward what Blair does best. Up front, both offensively and defensively, we've got to be quicker and more consistent. We didn't dominate our opponents in the trenches last year like I thought we could, but we've shifted a few people this year and I think we've got them where we can best utilize their strong points. If our pass rush is better, our defense really could improve. We'll be looking at too many great quarterbacks in people like Scott Campbell of Purdue and Jim Kelly of Miami not to have a very good pass rush. If we can't put pressure on quarterbacks like that, we'll be in trouble. That's why we looked for more quickness on the defensive line.

Q. What do you think of the schedule?
A. I start having nightmares every time I look at that schedule! Seriously, it has to be as tough as Notre Dame has played in a long time. You want to worry about it, but you realize that doesn't do a bit of good. Those 11 games are there, and we'll play them no matter what happens. All we can do is work hard so we'll be ready for it. We especially need to become a good football team by November to contend with Pitt, Penn State and USC. That's a bang-up way to finish off the season. We were disappointed being 5-6 last year. But, you also have to remember that we lost four of those games by a touchdown or less. So we've got to improve enough to win those kind of games. We've got to make the little things happen this time so we win the 24-21 games.

Gold and Blue

Although Notre Dame's official colors for athletics long have been listed as gold and blue, the color of the Irish home football jersey has switched back and forth between blue and green for more than 50 years.

The 1981 season marked yet another change—thanks to Gerry Faust's decision to return to blue. While the gold Irish helmets and pants remain unchanged, Faust's home jerseys are royal blue with white numbers feathered in gold. There are three one-inch stripes on the sleeves, two gold surrounding one white.

The change back to blue marked the first switch since Notre Dame made the move to green beginning with the 49-19 victory over Southern Cal on October 22, 1977. The Irish had worn navy blue all during Ara Parseghian's 11 seasons and through the first two-and-a-half years of the Dan Devine era—but they had stayed with the green ever since the victory over the Trojans.

Back in the 1920s during the Knute Rockne days, the Notre Dame varsity generally wore blue while the freshman squad wore green. But, on several occasions the varsity team did wear green—simply for purposes of distinction when the Irish opponent also came out in blue. Games against Navy, for example, in the late 1920s featured green-clad Notre Dame teams, to avoid confusion with the Navy's blue uniforms.

Rockne didn't mind using the color change as a psychological ploy. When Notre Dame faced Navy in Baltimore in 1927, the Irish head coach started his second-string reserves. Navy retaliated by scoring a touchdown in the first five minutes of the game. But, just as the Midshipmen scored, reported George Trevor in the New York Sun, Rockne made his move:

"Instantaneously the Notre Dame regulars yanked off their blue outer sweaters and like a horde of green Gila monsters darted onto the field. From that moment on Notre Dame held the initiative, imposed its collective will upon the Navy."

The Irish came from behind to win that one 19-6—then did the same thing the following year in Chicago's Soldier Field, this time beating Navy 7-0. The 1928 edition of the Scholastic Football Review included this description:

"Mr. K. K. Rockne may, or may not, be a psychologist. But, he did array his Fighting Irish in bright green jerseys for their battle with the United States Naval Academy. Mr. Rockne evidently surmised that garbing a band of native and adopted Irish in their native color is somewhat akin to showing a bull the Russian flag."

The green jerseys remained prominent throughout the Frank Leahy years—particularly so in September of 1947 when Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Lujack graced the cover of Life magazine clad in green. Several of Joe Kuharich's squads wore green with UCLA-style shoulder stripes and shamrocks on the helmets. Even Hugh Devore's 1963 team—after wearing navy blue all season—switched to green in the finale against Syracuse.

Faust's return to blue came after the new Irish coach suggested some research into the University archives to determine the history of Notre Dame's gold and blue colors. Those findings indicated the blue color was actually Madonna blue, a light blue shade, as opposed to the navy blue shade that has been most common in recent Notre Dame uniforms.

In its 1889 edition the Scholastic refers to the new uniforms acquired by the football team that spring. They included the letters ND on the breast of the jacket, one in old gold and the other in sky blue. The caps, with visors, featured the same colors.

Fighting Irish

Exactly where and how Notre Dame's athletic nickname, "Fighting Irish," came to origination never has been perfectly explained.

One story suggests the moniker was born in 1887, Notre Dame's first season of football. With Notre Dame leading Northwestern 5-0 at halftime of a game in Evanston, Ill., the Wildcat fans began to chant, "Kill the Fighting Irish, kill the Fighting Irish," as the second half opened.

Another tale has the nickname originating at halftime of the Notre Dame-Michigan game in 1909. With his team trailing, Notre Dame quarterback John Murphy yelled to his teammates—who happened to have names like Dolan, Kelly, Glen, Duffy and Ryan—"What's the matter with you guys? You're all Irish and you're not fighting worth a lick." Notre Dame came back to win the game and the press, after overhearing the remark, reported the game as a victory for the "Fighting Irish."

The most generally accepted explanation is that the press coined the nickname as a characterization of Notre Dame athletic teams, their never-say-die fighting spirit and their Irish qualities of grit, determination and tenacity. The term likely began as an abusive expression tauntingly directed toward the athletes from the small, private, Catholic institution.

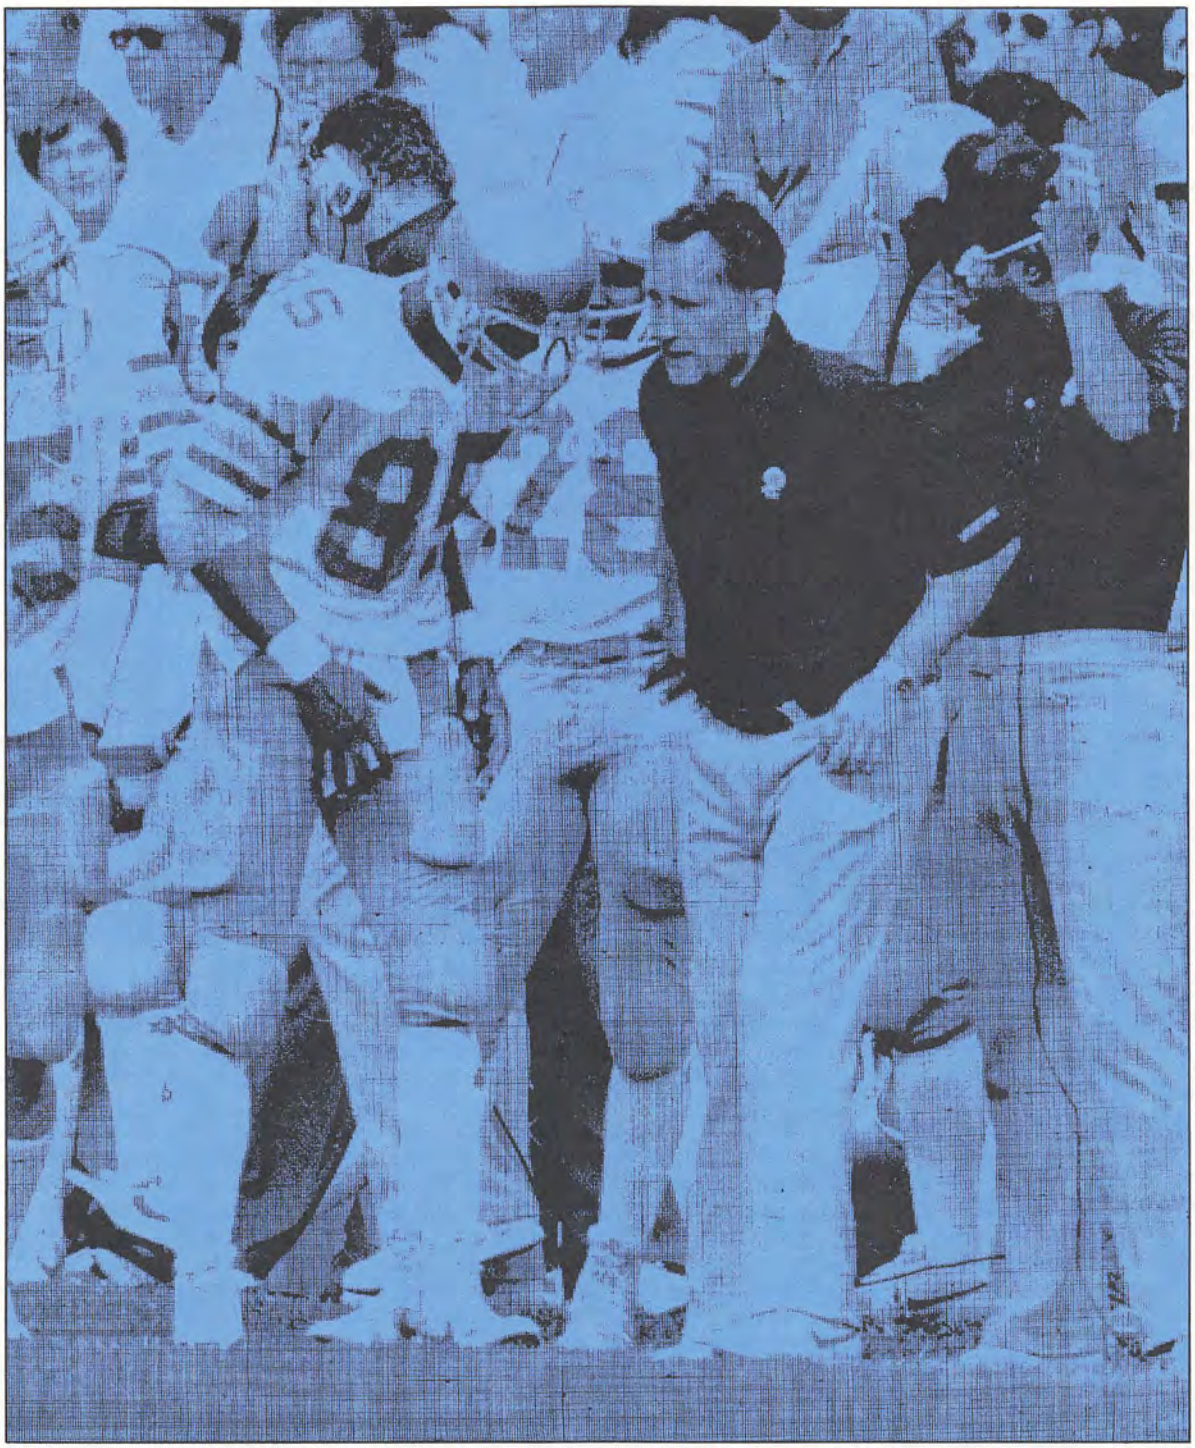
The Notre Dame Scholastic, in a 1929 edition, printed its own version of the story:

"The term 'Fighting Irish' has been applied to Notre Dame teams for years. It first attached itself years ago when the school, comparatively unknown, sent its athletic teams away to play in another city. . . . At that time the title 'Fighting Irish' held no glory or prestige. . . .

"The years passed swiftly and the little school began to take a place in the sports world. . . . 'Fighting Irish' took on a new meaning. The unknown of a few years past has boldly taken a place among the leaders. The unkind appellation became symbolic of the struggle for supremacy of the field. . . . The term, while given in irony, has become our heritage. . . . So truly does it represent us that we are unwilling to part with it. . . ."

Notre Dame competed under the nickname "Catholics" during the 1800s and became more widely known as the "Ramblers" during the early 1920s in the days of the Four Horsemen. University president Matthew Walsh officially adopted "Fighting Irish" as the Notre Dame nickname in 1927.

The Coaching Staff



Head Coach Gerry Faust

The gravel-voiced bundle of enthusiasm who bleeds Notre Dame blue and gold after only a year on campus is Gerry Faust, the Fighting Irish head football coach.

He brought an amazing 18-year record of high school coaching success with him when he became the 24th Notre Dame head coach back on November 24, 1980. He also brought a reputation as an emotional, energy-charged leader—and he quickly won the hearts of Irish fans everywhere with his ever-smiling warmth and personality.

"Being here at Notre Dame has been a dream come true," says the 47-year-old native of Dayton, Ohio. "I loved every minute of my first year here, except for those six Saturdays we lost. This is where I've wanted to coach all my life, and it's been even better than I expected."

Faust's six losses in 1981 represented the same number of defeats he had endured in his last 10 seasons combined at Moeller High School in Cincinnati, Ohio. But, as Faust is the first to admit, his first season with the Irish was one to chalk up to experience, a season of learning the ropes. If his past record of phenomenal success and his tireless work ethic are any indications, look for Faust's smile on the sidelines much more often in 1982.

The debut season for Notre Dame's new head man brought its share of golden moments to go with the 5-6 record. The Irish began the '81 campaign with an emphatic 27-9 win over LSU—in a season opener that ranks as one of the most widely-awaited games in Irish football history. The victory elevated Faust's team to the top of both wire-service polls, but a testing series of close encounters brought the Irish back to earth. Four of their losses—to Michigan, USC, Penn State and Miami—came to teams that finished among the top 15 in the final Associated Press poll.

Though Faust's initial season at Notre Dame didn't wake up many echoes, his handling of the adversity earned him high marks for grace under pressure. And the intense desire to succeed that is so much a part of him only seemed to burn stronger.

When Faust accepted the Notre Dame job, he left behind possibly the most accomplished high school football program in the country. In his 18 seasons as head coach at Moeller—a Catholic school with an enrollment of 1,000 students—he produced a glittering record of 174 wins, 17 losses and two ties for a .907 winning percentage.

Five of Faust's last six Moeller teams captured the Ohio Class AAA state championship in playoff competition—including his final team which finished 13-0 in 1980 following a 30-7 trouncing of traditional Ohio prep power Massillon in the title game. His Crusaders won 10 of 12 post-season games after the playoffs were instituted in Ohio beginning with the 1972 campaign.

After taking over at Moeller in 1963, Faust's coaching produced 12 Greater Cincinnati League (GCL) championships, including league crowns each of his last eight years. The Crusaders recorded a 92-11-1 mark in conference play under Faust, including wins in their last 40 league games.

Moeller claimed the Cincinnati city championship in 10 of Faust's last 12 seasons and the regional crown in eight of his last 10 years. Faust's Crusaders were awarded mythical national championships following their unbeaten seasons in 1976, '77, '79 and '80.

On nine occasions under Faust, Moeller finished the regular season without a loss, and all but two of those teams remained that way through playoff competition. The Crusaders owned a 33-game winning streak and had won 70 of their last 71 and 90 of their last 93 games when he left for Notre Dame. Faust's teams won 53 straight regular-season games between 1972 and 1978.

More than half of Faust's 174 victories at Moeller—90 of them, to be exact—came via the shutout route, testifying to the perennial strength of the Crusader defensive units. Moeller finished atop the final Associated Press and United Press International state high school rankings in 1974, '76, '77, '79 and '80.

As remarkable as Faust's record was on the field, he takes particular pride in the approximately 250 Moeller athletes who earned football scholarships on the collegiate level. Nineteen of his players have moved on to play at Notre Dame, including five current Irish—tight end Tony Hunter, linebacker Rick Naylor, fullback Mark Brooks and linebackers Mike Larkin and Mike Lane. One of those 19—offensive guard John Askin—will join the Irish this fall as a freshman.

Other Faust-coached Moeller players who came to Notre Dame included (with year entered school in parentheses) center Dan Novakov (1968), tight end Dave Schwarber ('71), offensive tackle Steve Sylvester ('71), defensive tackle Steve Niehaus ('72), linebacker Tony Novakov ('72), tight end/offensive guard John Driscoll ('73), offensive guard Harry Woebkenberg ('73), defensive tackle Jay Case ('74), split end Tim Heitzman ('74), quarterback Tim Koegel ('77), split end Dave Condeni ('77), kicker Harry Oliver ('78) and linebacker Bob Crable ('78).

In addition to his coaching duties at Moeller—where he supervised a football program that yearly included more than 200 boys playing on the varsity, varsity reserve and freshman squads—Faust also served as athletic director. Coach of 22 high school All-Americans in his 18 seasons, he received national prep coach of the year honors in 1979.

Also a gifted motivational speaker and a dynamic and highly-acclaimed lecturer, Faust often delivers several dozen addresses during the off-season—many of them to representatives of major corporations around the country.

Born on May 21, 1935, in Dayton, Ohio, Gerard Anthony Faust, Jr., began playing football at Chaminade High School in Dayton, where his father—Gerry, Sr.—coached for 49 years. A backup defensive back as a sophomore, Faust started at quarterback his last two years, earning all-state honors as a senior. He participated in the Ohio high school all-star game that summer—with Len Dawson as the opposing quarterback.

Faust moved on to the University of Dayton where he earned three letters in football as a quarterback—and played for a time under former Notre Dame head coach Hugh Devore. A marketing and management student, he received his undergraduate degree in 1958.

Following his graduation from Dayton, Faust returned to Chaminade to join the football coaching staff. After spending the 1958 and '59 seasons as offensive and defensive backfield coach at Chaminade, he moved to Moeller which first opened with only a freshman class in 1960.

Faust coached the freshman squad in '60 and also commuted to Dayton to serve as a volunteer assistant at Roosevelt and Colonel White high schools to gain additional experience. Moeller played a varsity reserve schedule in both 1961 and '62 and then fielded its first varsity team with a senior class in '63. That first Faust-coached Moeller team shocked the Cincinnati high school ranks by finishing 9-1—and Faust made that sort of success commonplace over the 18 seasons he spent at Moeller.

The 47-year-old Faust and his wife, Marlene, are parents of three children—Julie Marie 16, Gerry III 14 and Steve 13.

Brian Boulac—Assistant Head Coach

Former Fighting Irish tight end Brian Boulac enters his 13th season as a member of the Notre Dame football staff, his second as Gerry Faust's assistant head coach. Boulac, who also works with the specialty teams and wide receivers, is in his seventh campaign as coordinator of all recruiting efforts.

The 41-year-old Olympia, Wash., native returns to help the offense this fall after spending the last season working with the defensive line. He also served as administrative assistant to Dan Devine for two years.

Boulac earned monograms as a player at Notre Dame from 1960-62. Following his graduation from the University in 1963, he had a tryout with the St. Louis Cardinals, but elected to stay on campus as a graduate assistant coach from 1964-66 while working toward his master's degree. Boulac, who spent two summers in a Peace Corps-type program (CILA) in Lima, Peru, and served two years in the Army Medical Service Corps, remained at Notre Dame through 1968, doing doctoral work and coaching football.

Boulac earned 10 letters in high school while playing football, baseball, basketball and track—and garnered all-state honors in football and basketball.

Boulac and his wife, Micki, have four daughters: Dawn, 15; Denise, 12; Deborah, 11; and Dyan, 10.

Tom Lichtenberg—Off. Coordinator

Tom Lichtenberg begins his second season as Notre Dame's offensive coordinator, following two years as head coach at Morehead State in Kentucky. Lichtenberg, who worked with quarterbacks and receivers last fall, will tutor the running backs in 1982.

The 42-year-old Cincinnati native began his coaching career as head coach at Mason (Ohio) High School—then went to Purcell High School in Cincinnati where he coached against Gerry Faust.

Lichtenberg moved to Morehead State for two campaigns as defensive backfield coach in 1972-73, then spent five seasons as an assistant at Iowa State through 1978. In 1978, he was offensive coordinator for current Ohio State coach Earle Bruce at Iowa State.

A 1963 graduate of Louisville where he played running back and outside linebacker, he returned to Morehead State as head coach in '79 and finished with a two-year mark of 9-11-1.

Lichtenberg, married to the former Sue Ann Reding, is the father of five children—Tami, 21; Michelle, 18; Tom, 15; Susan, 13; and Tony, 10.

Ron Hudson—QBs and Receivers

Ron Hudson takes over as architect of Notre Dame's passing game as quarterback and receiver coach following three seasons as offensive backfield coach at UCLA.

The 36-year-old Oakland, Calif., native spent the 1977 and '78 seasons as running back coach and recruiting coordinator at Oregon—and had been named quarterback coach just prior to moving to UCLA.

He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant for two years at California beginning in 1969. Hudson assumed a similar post at Stanford in 1971—then moved back to California for five years under Mike White from 1972-76 while working as defensive line and offensive receiver coach. Well-versed in all facets of the passing game, Hudson tutored California wide receivers Steve Rivera and Wesley Walker while helping the Bears to a share of the '75 Pacific-8 title.

Hudson was an all-around athletic standout at Miramonte High School in Orinda, Calif., lettering in football, basketball, track and tennis. After attending Diablo Valley College, where he lettered in football and basketball, he transferred to California, graduating in 1969.

Carl Selmer—Head Offensive Line

Carl Selmer, former head football coach at Miami of Florida and a veteran of 24 seasons of college coaching, is entering his first campaign as Notre Dame's head offensive line coach.

The 56-year-old Minneapolis, Minn., native will work with the tackles and tight ends. Selmer has coached the offensive line everywhere he has been—including an 11-year stint at Nebraska where the Huskers went to bowl games in nine of those seasons.

Selmer, who coached the offensive line for the British Columbia Lions in the Canadian Football League last fall, began his coaching career at Worland High School in Worland, Wyo., where he compiled an impressive 80-14-2 mark over nine seasons beginning in 1948.

He spent 16 seasons as an assistant under Bob Devaney—the first five at Wyoming ('57-'61) and the next 11 at Nebraska ('62-'72). He worked with current Irish assistant George Kelly for seven of those years at Nebraska—and also helped the Huskers to national championships in '70 and '71.

He served as Kansas State's offensive coordinator and line coach from '78 through '80 following a one-year stop at North Texas State under Hayden Fry. Selmer had been coach at Miami in '75 and '76 following two seasons as offensive coordinator for the Hurricanes.

Selmer and his wife, Eleanor, are the parents of two children—Brian, 26, and Kerby, 23.

Jim Higgins—Offensive Line

Moving into his second season as Notre Dame's offensive line coach is Jim Higgins who joined Gerry Faust in the move from Moeller High School. Higgins, who coached the offensive line for seven seasons at Moeller, works primarily with guards and centers while teaming with Carl Selmer on the line.

He molded the Moeller offensive lines which helped the Crusaders post an 80-2 record during his seven seasons, winning the Ohio Class AAA state crown five of the last six years.

A 39-year-old native of Cincinnati, Higgins previously spent four years as an assistant at Purcell High School in Cincinnati from 1970-73. After graduating from Purcell in 1960, he became a three-year starter in football as an offensive guard at Xavier. Recipient of a political science degree in 1964, he spent one year as a graduate assistant at Xavier, eventually earning his master's degree in history in 1969.

A veteran of five seasons in professional football, Higgins played three years with the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League and two others with the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League.

Higgins and his wife, Linda, are parents of two sons—Jamie, 5, and Shawn, 2.

Jim Johnson—Defensive Coordinator

In his sixth year on the Notre Dame coaching staff, Jim Johnson begins his second season as Irish defensive coordinator in addition to maintaining his post as head of operations in the secondary.

Prior to joining the Irish staff in 1977, the Broadview, Ill., native worked under Lee Corso at Indiana while handling the Hoosier linebackers and coordinating the Indiana defense for four years.

Johnson attended Proviso East High School in Maywood, Ill., where he played football under former Notre Dame great Andy Puplis. He then took his football talents to Missouri where he starred at both quarterback and safety under Dan Devine from 1960-62. As a two-way starter for the Tigers, Johnson participated in the Orange Bowl and the Bluebonnet Bowl, earning the MVP award in the latter classic in 1962. He signed with the Buffalo Bills and went on to play one season in the NFL as a tight end before entering coaching.

The 40-year-old Johnson began his coaching career as an assistant at Joplin (Mo.) High School, then became head coach at Missouri Southern Junior College. His first team at Missouri Southern finished third in the nation. Johnson moved to Drake as defensive coordinator in 1968—and remained there until beginning his tenure at Indiana in 1973.

A 1963 graduate of Missouri, Johnson earned his master's degree in physical education the following year. He and his wife, Vicky, have a son, Scott, and a daughter, Michelle.

George Kelly—Linebackers

The veteran of Gerry Faust's crew of assistant coaches, George Kelly is beginning his 14th season as a member of the Notre Dame staff. Director of the Irish linebackers all during that tenure, Kelly has been a key figure in molding a long series of top-notch defensive units.

A native of Rockford, Ill., Kelly first came to the Notre Dame campus as a student in 1949. He played one season of freshman football—but an injury in 1950 cut his competitive career short. After graduating from Notre Dame in 1953, Kelly remained in South Bend and joined the football staff at St. Joseph's High School. The following year he assumed the head football coaching reins at the school.

Kelly jumped to the collegiate ranks in 1956, beginning as an assistant coach at Marquette. Three years later he moved to Nebraska where he spent eight seasons as an assistant under Husker head coach Bob Devaney. With Kelly a key member of the Nebraska brain trust, the Huskers led the nation in total defense in 1963 and 1967. He joined the Notre Dame staff beginning with the 1969 season.

The 53-year-old Kelly and his wife, the former Gloria Haddad, have four children: Barbara (Mrs. Mike Gorbitz), Patti (Mrs. Greg Jurgonski), Lori, 22, and Kevin, 19, a sophomore at the University.

Greg Blache—Head Defensive Line

In his second year with the Irish grid staff, Greg Blache moves over to defense this season to work with the Notre Dame defensive line, with specific resonsibility for ends and the strong-side linebackers.

Blache, who returned to the Notre Dame last year after a five-year stint as an assistant coach at Tulane, was the running back coach for the Irish in 1981. The 32-year old New Orleans, La., native first came to Notre Dame in 1967 as a defensive back—but an injury his freshman year ended his playing career. He served the next three seasons as a student assistant coach helping the freshmen under Ara Paraseghian.

Following his graduation in 1971, Blache remained on the staff as a graduate assistant, working as defensive coordinator for the freshmen in 1971 and 1972. He earned his master's degree in education in 1972, then spent the following three seasons as a full-time assistant coaching the junior varsity.

Blache moved to Tulane in 1975, and worked with the defensive backs after previously coaching the offensive line and outside linebackers. He also coached the linebackers as a member of Parseghian's staff at the '76 College All-Star game in Chicago.

Blache is married to the former Bernadine Moore and is the father of three children—Greg, Jr., 11; Christopher, 5; and Corinne, 4.

Jay Robertson—Defensive Line

Jay Robertson, an assistant coach at Wisconsin for the past two seasons, will serve on Notre Dame's defensive line staff this fall.

The 41-year-old Evanston, Ill., native will assist Irish coach Greg Blache with the defensive line, working specifically with the three down tackle positions. Robertson was in charge of tight ends, wide receivers and special teams the past two years for Dave McClain at Wisconsin. Prior to that he was defensive coordinator for four seasons at Northern Illinois. He worked specifically with the secondary, molding a pass defense that ranked among the top 10 in the nation in '77 and '78.

Robertson spent nine seasons as an assistant at Northwestern—the first six ('67-'72) under Alex Agase and and the next three ('73-'75) under John Pont. During his tenure with the Wildcats, he gained experience working with the offensive and defensive lines, receivers and special teams.

Robertson earned three letters in football as a center for Ara Parseghian at Northwestern beginning in 1960. He captained the '62 Wildcat squad as a senior and earned the game ball in Northwestern's 35-6 win over Notre Dame that year.

He earned a pair of degrees from Northwestern—a bachelor's in history and a master's in business administration. He also spent four years in the U.S. Marine Corps, serving a year's tour of duty in Viet Nam.

Mike Stewart—Scouting, Jr. Varsity

Mike Stewart, the head football coach at St. Xavier High School in Louisville, Ky., for the past six years, joins the Irish staff this fall as a part-time assistant coach. Stewart's duties include scouting and coordinating the junior varsity and prep team program.

The 40-year old Louisville native comes to Notre Dame after posting an overall 53-18 record during his tenure at St. Xavier. His team won the Kentucky Class 4A state crown in '78 while making the playoffs five of his six years.

Prior to taking the head coaching position at St. Xavier, Stewart spent six years there as an assistant coach following a six-season stint as an assistant at Christian County High School in Hopkinville, Ky.

Stewart was president of the Kentucky High School Coaches Association last year and coached the West squad in the 1980 Kentucky high school all-star game.

He and his wife, Barbara, have three children—Michael (Mickey), 20, Stacy, 17, and Hope, 10.

Joe Yonto—Special Asst. to AD

A veteran of 17 years as the Irish defensive line coach, Joe Yonto now serves as a special assistant to athletic director Gene Corrigan. Yonto, who also was the defensive coordinator for four years before moving into the administrative ranks in 1981, now helps organize all facets of the football program.

An Orrville, Ohio, native, Yonto played fullback on the 1945 Notre Dame team and guard on the '46 edition. As a senior, the following year, he served as an assistant freshmen coach after being forced out of action with a leg injury.

Yonto's high school coaching credits include tenures at St. Mary's in Michigan City, Ind., St. Stephen's in Port Huron, Mich., and Mount Carmel and St. Rita's in Chicago.

Before joining the Notre Dame ranks in 1964, Yonto also coached seven years at Notre Dame High School in Niles, Ill. His teams claimed three consecutive Chicago Suburban Catholic League titles from 1960-62, including a perfect 10-game season in 1961. His 16-year high school coaching record was 96-42-7. At Notre Dame, he tutored 12 defensive linemen who earned All-America honors.

Named the Notre Dame "Man of the Year" in 1975 by the St. Joseph Valley Club, he is married to the former Betty Rose of Michigan City, Ind. They have six children: Mary Jo (Mrs. Peter Sullivan), Carol (Mrs. James McDonald), Tony, Robert, Therese (Mrs. Tim Scott) and Joey.

Ross Stephenson—Volunteer Asst.

After scouting Notre Dame's opponents the last seven seasons, Ross Stephenson begins a new role as volunteer assistant under Gerry Faust.

Active in high school athletics in the South Bend Community School Corporation for nearly 35 years, the 60-year-old South Bend native has been coordinator of physical education for the South Bend schools since 1973.

Stephenson served on the South Bend Central High School football coaching staff from 1947 through 1970—handling the head coaching chores in 1952 and 1968—and holding down the athletic director duties from 1952-70.

Previously the backfield coach on the Bloom High School staff in Chicago Heights, Ill., in 1946, Stephenson also spent three seasons (1970-72) as head football coach at South Bend LaSalle High School.

A graduate of South Bend Riley High School, Stephenson played quarterback and halfback at Eastern Illinois University, earning his degree in 1943. He received his master's degree from the University of Illinois in 1948.

Stephenson and his wife Jane are the parents of five children—Janie, Marty, John, Mary and Julie.

Kevin McCormick—Part-Time Asst.

A former player and assistant coach under Gerry Faust at Moeller High School in Cincinnati, Kevin McCormick is in his second year heading the Irish defensive prep squad.

The 24-year old Cincinnati native played center at Moeller from 1972 through 1975, serving as captain of the specialty teams as a senior as Moeller claimed its first state championship.

McCormick went on to attend Xavier where he continued to help the Moeller program by directing the Crusader's prep teams during his undergraduate years. After receiving his degree in marketing in 1980, he worked for McCormick Equipment Company in Cincinnati before coming to Notre Dame in 1981.

In addition to his coaching at Notre Dame, he is also employed by Knollwood Country Club. One of 10 children in his family, both his father and one sister are Notre Dame graduates.

Dave Mitchell—Part-Time Assistant

Former Irish fullback Dave Mitchell is in his second year aiding Gerry Faust's staff as a part-time assistant coach.

Mitchell, who served as a graduate assistant under Dan Devine two years ago, earned a pair of monograms during the '77 and '78 campaigns. A knee injury in the '79 Blue-Gold game forced him to miss his entire senior season.

As a sophomore, Mitchell gained 303 yards on 82 carries, the third best rushing total on the national championship squad, and scored the winning touchdown against Purdue. He underwent shoulder surgery prior to his junior year but saw action in all but three games that year as a reserve fullback.

The Phoenix, Ariz., native attended St. Mary's High School where his single-season rushing total of 3,913 yards ranked as the second-highest figure in Arizona prep history.

Mitchell received his degree in economics from Notre Dame in 1980.

Joe Gramke—Graduate Assistant

Former Notre Dame defensive lineman Joe Gramke joins the Irish coaching ranks this fall as a graduate assistant.

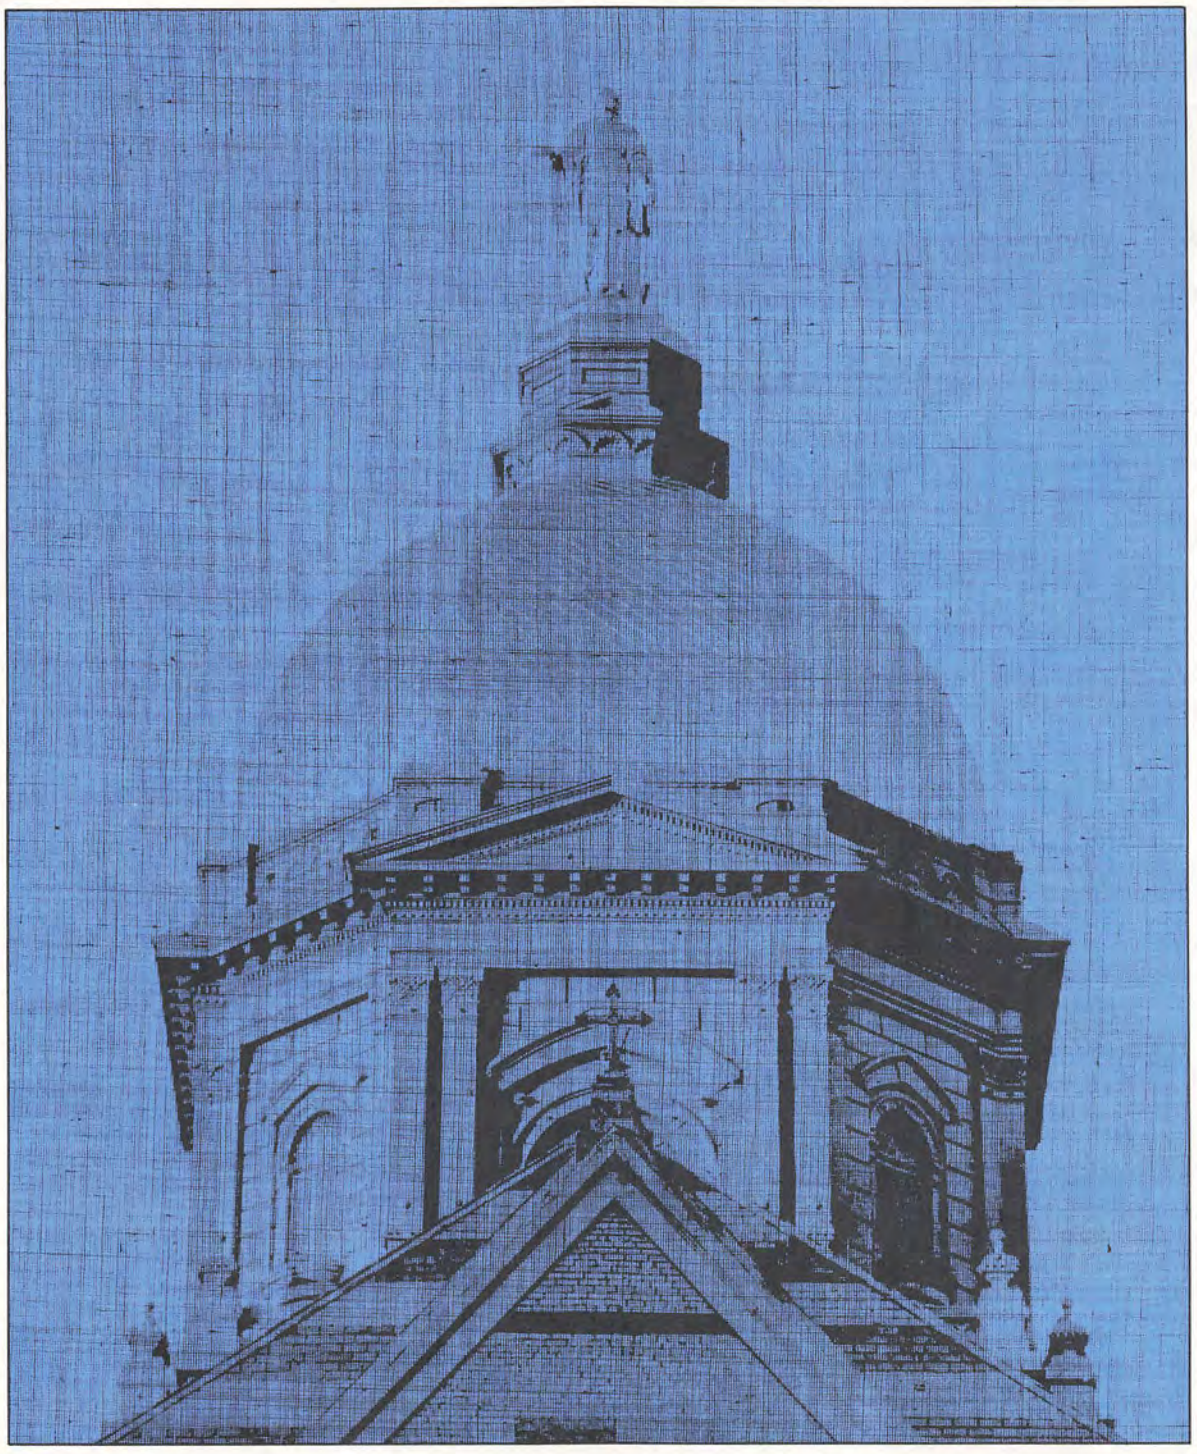
A four-time monogram-winner while playing both end and tackle, Gramke played in eight games last fall as a senior, starting four of the first five at tackle before an injury curtailed his contributions.

An integral part of the Notre Dame defensive line scheme since his freshman year, the 22-year-old Cincinnati native made five tackles in the '79 Cotton Bowl, including a key fourth-down stop of Houston quarterback Danny Davis. He enjoyed his finest season with the Irish as a sophomore in '79 when he started all 11 games on the front line.

Gramke earned two letters at Elder High School in Cincinnati while helping his team to a 9-0-1 mark in 1976 and a share of the Greater Cincinnati League title.

He earned his degree in marketing from the College of Business Administration last spring.

The University



University Profile

Indian villages and fur trading posts dotted the Indiana prairie in 1842 when the young Reverend Edward F. Sorin, C.S.C., traveled from France to found the University of Notre Dame. Together with a small band of clerics he took possession of a log building in bad repair, dedicated the land and their efforts to the Mother of God, and began the arduous task of establishing an educational program suitable for the needs of the frontier dwellers.

The Holy Cross Fathers governed the University until 1967 when Notre Dame became the first major Catholic university to transfer governance to a predominantly lay board of trustees. Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C, has headed the University since 1952, a record for major college presidents in this day, and has received more than 90 honorary doctorates from other schools, also a record. Thomas P. Carney, chairman and president of Metatech Corporation, has assumed the chairmanship of Notre Dame's Board of Trustees, a position held by Edmund A. Stephan, Chicago attorney, for 14 years.

Notre Dame's 1,250-acre campus, with its twin lakes and wooded areas, is located just north of South Bend, Ind., with a population of about 130,000. The University's physical plant of 100 buildings has an insured replacement value of more than $300 million. Some 35 buildings have been erected during the Hesburgh administration, including one of the world's largest collegiate libraries. Notre Dame's library system contains about 1.4 million volumes with an annual acquisition rate of about 40,000 volumes.

Notre Dame's main academic units are the four undergraduate colleges—Arts and Letters, Science, Engineering and Business Administration—and the Law School. There is no separate graduate faculty, as even the most senior members teach undergraduate courses; and virtually all the academic departments offer advanced degree programs.

The University also contains several institutes or centers of learning, such as: the Center for the Study of Man in Contemporary Society, for research in the social sciences and humanities; the Radiation Laboratory, the world's largest collection of research chemists studying the effects of radiation on matter; Lobund Laboratory, for germfree animal research; the Center for Pastoral and Social Ministry, with its programs serving the Church; the Law School's Institute for Public Policy Research; the Institute for Urban Studies, and the Helen Kellogg Institute for International Studies.

Notre Dame's teaching and research faculty numbers about 700, almost all full-time. An additional 116 persons are classified as professional specialists and research fellows. About nine in 10 faculty members are lay persons and 80 percent hold doctorates or the equivalent. Faculty members and graduate students do about $10 million in research and sponsored programs annually.

In addition to an extensive intramural athletic program, Notre Dame's role in intercollegiate sports, most notably its legendary football teams, are an important ingredient in campus life. The University's varsity athletes meet the same academic standards required of all students—as evidenced by the fact that 98 percent receive their degrees. Notre Dame ranks among the leaders in the number of postgraduate NCAA scholarship awards given its athletes.

About two-thirds of Notre Dame's 65,000 alumni graduated while Father Hesburgh has been president. Most of them are organized into a network of 150 alumni clubs throughout the United States and the Alumni Association is regionally represented by a 19-member board of directors. More than half of Notre Dame's alumni contribute annually, and during the recently completed Campaign for Notre Dame, 86 percent of the alumni made gifts or commitments. The campaign generated $180.5 million toward the $130 million goal.

Admission is highly competitive with about four applicants for each freshman class position. About 75 percent of those accepted were in the top 10 percent of their high school classes. While scholastic aptitude is important, Notre Dame students are chosen for other qualities and talents as well. About 10 percent of those selected were presidents of their senior classes or student bodies, and about 19 percent were captains of at least one varsity athletic team.

Notre Dame is one of the country's few truly national colleges or universities. Its student body represents all 50 states and about 65 foreign countries. While about 90 percent of the students are Catholic, religion is not considered in screening applicants. Although its graduate programs had been coeducational for some time, the University's undergraduate ranks were not opened to women until 1972. Today about one-fourth the student body is female in a student population of 7,000.

Another 1,200 students are enrolled in graduate programs and another 600 in Law School or in the Master's in Business Administration Program. About half of Notre Dame's seniors go on to graduate or professional schools with 80 percent of those applying to medical or dental school accepted—a figure twice the national average.

Residentiality is a valued tradition at Notre Dame as about three-fourths of the undergraduates lives on campus in 24 residence halls. At Notre Dame where more is meant by "education" than what is taught in the classroom and laboratory, the residence hall is a community of young people learning how to live, not just how to earn a living. The students' social, religious and intramural athletic interests are centered in the residence halls.

Campus Leaders

More than 60 years of service to the University of Notre Dame have been compiled by two priests who assumed leadership positions in 1952. The Reverends Theodore M. Hesburgh and Edmund P. Joyce stand alone among the major educators of the nation in length of service to their community.

Under their leadership, Notre Dame has grown in public esteem and academic distinction. While moving to the forefront in American higher education, the University's student body has gone from 5,000 in 1952 to about 9,000 today. And Notre Dame turns down four applicants for every one who gains admission to a freshman class of 1,700.

The operating budget has soared from $9 million to $108.9 million, but sound fiscal management and the most successful development program in American Catholic higher education have made the Hesburgh-Joyce years ones of sound growth, financial stability and academic development.

The physical expansion of Notre Dame's campus over the past 29 years has been striking. More than $100 million has gone into new or renovated physical facilities and more than two dozen new structures have transformed the University skyline.

Central to this growth and improvement has been the generosity of Notre Dame's alumni and friends. The University's 67,000 alumni contribute between $4 million and $5 million annually to their alma mater, a level of support among the best in American higher education. The Campaign for Notre Dame, aimed at increasing the University's $214 million endowment, was recently completed, $50 million over its $130 million goal.

The Hesburgh era also has seen substantial progress in graduate studies and research. The postbaccalaureate enrollment has gone from 375 in 1952 to about 1,900 today. The amount received for research and sponsored programs has increased from slightly more than $1 million in 1952 to more than $12 million annually today. And Notre Dame's Memorial Library, the world's largest collegiate library building when completed in 1963, holds 1.4 million volumes today—more than five times more volumes than in 1952.

But Father Hesburgh's career as president of Notre Dame has reached far beyond the campus and, in turn, has challenged his University to serve mankind throughout the world. Consistently ranked among the most influential Americans in both education and religion, he has served six presidents and four popes in varied capacities and has been deeply involved in key social and moral issues. Notre Dame's president held the rank of U.S. ambassador (the only Catholic priest ever to do so) as head of the U.S. delegation to a United Nations conference on the transfer of technology from developed to underdeveloped countries.

Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, C.S.C., (left) and Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.

The 1980 recipient of the Alexis de Tocqueville Society Award from United Way of America for exemplary service to the voluntary movement, Father Hesburgh currently is chairman of the Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy, chairman of the Rockefeller Foundation, chairman of the Washington-based Overseas Development Council which lobbies for the needs of underdeveloped countries, and a member of the board of trustees of the Chase Manhattan Bank. He was given the nation's highest civilian honor, the Medal of Freedom, in 1964 by President Lyndon B. Johnson for his work on behalf of civil rights. He served on the U.S. Civil Rights Commission from its inception in 1957 until 1972, including three years as chairman.

In addition to overseeing Notre Dame's finances and building program, Father Joyce has headed the University's faculty board in control of athletics. During his 30-year tenure Notre Dame has had one of the nation's most successful records in intercollegiate athletics while having an equally enviable record in graduating an exceptionally higher percentage of its athletes in four years. At Notre Dame, where it is not unusual to see more athletes go on to graduate studies than to professional sports, Father Joyce has proved that high academic standards can coexist with athletic excellence.

A leading authority and prominent spokesman on intercollegiate athletics, Father Joyce, as well as Father Hesburgh, has received the Distinguished American Award from the National Football Foundation and Football Hall of Fame. He is a founder and director of the College Football Association.

Father Joyce majored in accounting at Notre Dame and was graduated magna cum laude in 1937 with a bachelor of science degree. He then served as a certified public accountant for eight years before entering Holy Cross College in Washington, D.C., to prepare for the priesthood. He was ordained at Notre Dame in 1949 and was named assistant vice president for business affairs. He became acting vice president in 1950 and spent a year of advanced study at Oxford University in England before assuming his present duties in 1952.

Gene Corrigan

In his long and diversified career in intercollegiate athletics, Gene Corrigan has occupied almost every desk imaginable in a college athletic department. He brings the experience and knowledge gained in those jobs—moments that have shaped his progressive philosophies and ideas—to his everyday dealings as athletic director at the University of Notre Dame.

The 54-year-old Corrigan, who assumed his present post on January 5, 1981, quickly earned a reputation in his first year on the job as an achiever with an eye for the future.

One of his initial tasks was to help spearhead the planning and organization of an athletic endowment fund designed to allow Notre Dame not only to maintain but also to expand athletic opportunities for both men and women at the varsity, club and intramural levels.

Toward that end, Corrigan had the pleasure of welcoming two new varsity sports to the Notre Dame program during his first full year as athletic director. Men's lacrosse made the jump from club status in the spring of '81, and women's swimming followed last winter. At a time when many collegiate athletic programs are being forced to cut back the number of sports offered, the two-sport addition underscores Corrigan's commitment to supplement the competition possibilities on campus.

He also helps shape intercollegiate athletic policy at the national level as a member of both the NCAA Division I basketball and lacrosse committees. In addition, he serves on the Honors Court of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Prior to joining the Notre Dame ranks, Corrigan served as director of athletic programs at the University of Virginia. During his nine-year tenure Corrigan was credited with the rapid development of a reputable 23-sport athletic program which included the addition of 10 women's sports.

While at Virginia, Corrigan directed a multimillion-dollar renovation program which encompassed a new baseball stadium, a tartan-surface track, expansion of tennis facilities, the building of an intramural recreation complex and an addition of 14,000 seats to Scott Stadium, the Cavaliers' football facility. The expansion and growth of Virginia's athletic programs largely were financed by fund-raising activities directed by Corrigan.

A native of Baltimore, Corrigan participated in nearly every sport offered at Loyola High School. After graduation in 1946, Corrigan joined the U.S. Army and served an 18-month stint.

Despite wanting to play collegiate hockey, Corrigan enrolled at Duke University after his discharge from the Army. He filled his competitive urge by playing lacrosse for the Blue Devils.

After receiving his degree in liberal arts in 1952, Corrigan returned to Baltimore and taught Latin, English and history and coached football, basketball and lacrosse at St. Paul's School.

Corrigan moved to the collegiate ranks in 1955 as head basketball, lacrosse and soccer coach at Washington and Lee University. After three years, he began his first nine-year association with the University of Virginia as head lacrosse, head soccer and assistant basketball coach.

He relinquished his basketball coaching duties after three years, but began working as Virginia's sports information director as well as teaching in the physical education department.

Corrigan left Virginia in July, 1967, to become assistant commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference where he handled the news bureau, officials and investigations.

He returned to Washington and Lee as athletic director in 1969. After two years, he went back to Virginia for another nine-year stint—this time as director of athletic programs.

Corrigan married the former Lena Natale on April 6, 1953. They have seven children: Louise (Mrs. Scott Wawner), Kathryn (Mrs. Tony Zentgraf), David, 24; Kevin, 23; Brian, 21; Timothy, 19; and Boo, 15.

Col. John Stephens—Assoc. Ath. Dir.

Helping Gene Corrigan with all phases of Notre Dame's wide-ranging athletic program is Jack Stephens, now in his 15th year as a member of the Irish athletic administration.

Prior to assuming his present position in 1976, Stephens had been an assistant athletic director at Notre Dame since July, 1968, following his voluntary retirement as professor of military science and commanding officer of the Army ROTC unit at the University.

A director of the Walter Camp Football Foundation, Stephens graduated from the University of Iowa and received his master's degree in guidance and counseling from the University of Notre Dame.

After a tenure as a military attache in India, Stephens served as an advisor for the armies of Turkey and South Korea. He has been awarded the Legion of Merit, the Silver Star, the Bronze Star with two oakleaf clusters and the Purple Heart. He has been an infantry officer in both command and staff assignments at the battalion, regiment and battle group levels. He was inducted into the Infantry Officers' Candidate Hall of Fame in 1966.

Before entering the United States Army, Stephens taught and coached athletics at the high school level in Omaha and St. Louis. He and his wife, Almire, have two daughters, Lesie and Jackie, and a son, John, a recent graduate of Notre Dame's School of Law.

Joe O'Brien—Asst. Ath. Director

Beginning his seventh year as assistant athletic director, Joe O'Brien manages all business affairs as far as Notre Dame athletics are concerned.

In addition to overseeing all budgetary and purchasing procedures on a daily basis, O'Brien has handled the business end of four major football bowl trips, five NCAA basketball tournament appearances—plus Notre Dame's visit to Japan for the 1979 Mirage Bowl.

Before joining the Irish athletic staff in May, 1976, O'Brien, a 1949 Notre Dame graduate, spent more than 20 years directing personnel functions at the University, the second largest employer in South Bend.

A native of Philadelphia, Pa., O'Brien served a tour of duty in the Marine Corps and worked in personnel services for both the Whirlpool Corporation and the Oliver Corporation. He returned to his alma mater in 1955.

He becomes president of the College Athletic Business Managers Association in January.

Active in many civic and community organizations and boards in the Michiana area, O'Brien and his wife, Betty, have one daughter, Susan (Mrs. Larry Davis), a 1976 Notre Dame graduate.

Roger Valdiserri—Asst. Ath. Director

Now in his 17th season as Notre Dame's sports information director, Roger Valdiserri also handles a variety of administrative responsibilities in his role as assistant athletic director for the last six years.

Following his 1954 graduation from Notre Dame Valdiserri served his first stint at his alma mater as an administrative assistant to Irish football coach Terry Brennan. In 1959, he went to Mercedes-Benz of North America as public relations director, then moved to the Kansas City Chiefs professional football team as public relations director in 1964. Valdiserri returned to Notre Dame as sports information director in 1966 and added the responsibilities of assistant athletic director in 1976.

Since 1976 he has earned 37 awards from the College Sports Information Directors of America for his sports publications, many of the citations honoring his programs and press guides as best in the nation. Valdiserri, a member of the NCAA public relations committee, served as press liaison for the U.S. All-Star basketball team that toured the People's Republic of China in the summer of 1973—after performing the same duties the previous year with the U.S. fencing team at the Junior World Championships in Spain. He was elected to the CoSIDA Hall of Fame in June, 1981.

He and his wife Elaine have five children—Richard, 27, Kathleen, 26, Kenneth, 24, Thomas, 23 (all Notre Dame graduates), and Susan, 22, now a senior at the University.

John Heisler—Assoc. Sports Infor. Dir.

A native of South Bend, Ind., John Heisler is in his initial year as associate director of sports information at Notre Dame, following four years as assistant director.

The 27-year-old Heisler, who occupied the same position at the University of Missouri for one year prior to coming to Notre Dame, has helped edit a variety of award-winning publications in his first four years—including eight judged best in the nation by College Sports Information Directors of America panels.

Heisler spent four years working in the Missouri sports information office as a student, handling publicity for basketball and several nonrevenue sports. Following his graduation from Missouri's School of Journalism in December of 1976, he was named the first full-time assistant to Missouri sports information director Bill Callahan—then moved to Notre Dame one year later. During his stay at Missouri, Heisler served five years as campus correspondent for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and the Associated Press. He also worked two summers as an intern in the Kansas City Star sports department.

Heisler was married in August to the former Karen Croake.

Eddie White—Asst. Sports Infor. Dir.

Eddie White joined the Notre Dame staff in May as assistant sports information director following a six-year stint in the sports information office at Wilkes College in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

A 1980 Wilkes graduate, White worked as a student assistant under George Pawlush his first two years before becoming SID on a part-time basis as a junior and senior. Upon graduation, he became the full-time SID at Wilkes, where he also served as vice-president of the Middle Atlantic Conference Sports Information Director's Association.

White, who graduated with a degree in English/journalism and was sports editor of the school paper for two years, has written a weekly sports column the last three years for the Wilkes-Barre Citizens' Voice newspaper.

The 24-year old White, whose duties at Notre Dame will center around publication of brochures and programs for all sports, attended Bishop Hoban High School in Wilkes-Barre. In addition to helping organize numerous all-star games and tournaments in Wilkes-Barre, White was a sports talk show co-host and color-man for WCLH-FM in his undergraduate years.

Steve Orsini—Ticket & Promotion Mgr.

Former Irish gridder Steve Orsini is in his second campaign as director of Notre Dame's expanding ticket department following his appointment as University ticket manager in February of 1981. His duties also include directing all athletic promotional efforts.

His increasingly complex operation now includes the use of University computer facilities to aid in the allocation, distribution and mailing of tickets for all University events.

The 26-year-old Orsini joined the Irish after spending three years as a certified public accountant for a Woodbury, N.Y., firm.

A native of Hummelstown, Pa., Orsini is a 1978 Notre Dame graduate with a degree in accounting.

He served as specialty team captain of the 1977 Irish national championship football team, gaining 339 career rushing yards and earning three monograms from his fullback slot.

Orsini also serves as treasurer for the Notre Dame National Monogram Club.

Mike DeCicco—Academic Advisor

Notre Dame's highly-successful fencing coach, Mike DeCicco serves as the academic advisor for all Notre Dame athletes.

A 1949 Notre Dame graduate, DeCicco remained at the University to finish his doctorate work and five years later began teaching in the mechanical engineering department. He attained the rank of professor and only several years ago gave up teaching to concentrate on advising the more than 500 athletes at Notre Dame.

Coach of national championship fencing teams in 1977 and '78, the Newark, N.J., native has fashioned a 389-37 record as the Irish coach since 1962. He was chosen American Fencing Coaches Association coach of the year in 1966, '75 and '77 and guided five teams to undefeated marks.

A fencer at Notre Dame as a student, DeCicco coached the United States World Games fencing team in 1970 and served as team manager at the World Games in Mexico City in 1979.

DeCicco and his wife, Polly, have five children—Linda, Michele, Nick, Della and Michael, Jr., a student at the University.

Gene O'Neill—Equipment Manager

As varsity equipment manager, Gene O'Neill supervises the procurement, maintenance, storage and distribution of athletic equipment for all of Notre Dame's men's and women's varsity sports.

O'Neill began his association with the University as football equipment manager in August, 1967, but added the responsibility of overseeing the equipment operations for all varsity sports a year later.

O'Neill served nearly 25 years in the United States Air Force as a non-commissioned officer before retiring in June, 1967. Included in his Air Force tour of duty was an assignment as an instructor in the Notre Dame Air Force ROTC from May, 1954, to August, 1959. O'Neill, a native of Lawrence, Mass., attended the University of Maryland.

Married to the former Helen M. Lewis of White Plains, N.Y., O'Neill and his wife have 11 children: Kathleen, Maribeth, Michael, Daniel and Thomas O'Neill and William, Jr., Mark, Charles, Cathleen, James and Mary-Beth Lewis.

Gary Weil—Strength and Conditioning

Gary Weil, Notre Dame's assistant strength coach for the past year, moves up to the duties of varsity strength and conditioning coach this fall.

The 24-year old Weil earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education from Arizona State. His graduate degree was with a specialization in kinesiology and exercise physiology.

Weil also played defensive back in football at Arizona State under Frank Kush. He boasts experience in weight training, teaching and coaching at the junior high, high school and collegiate levels—including a year as a physical education graduate teaching assistant at Arizona State and another as strength coach and secondary coach at Troy High School in Fullerton, Calif.

Weil was married last summer to the former Patti Wolverton of Huachuca City, Ariz.

John Whitmer—Head Trainer

John Whitmer moves into his fourth year as head of training operations for all varsity sports following a decade as Notre Dame's assistant trainer. He holds responsibility for the administration of the total training program for both the men's and women's varsity sports.

Whitmer, who previously worked specifically with the Notre Dame hockey team while aiding Gene Paszkiet with football and other varsity sports, received his undergraduate degree in physical education from Western Michigan. He obtained his master's degree from the same school in 1968.

The 38-year-old Whitmer then spent one year as head football trainer at Washington High School in Massillon, Ohio. He came to Notre Dame as assistant trainer in August, 1969.

Gene Paszkiet—Senior Staff Trainer

Now in his 30th season at Notre Dame, Gene Paszkiet serves as senior staff trainer for the Fighting Irish athletic program, working primarily with the football team.

A native of South Bend, Ind., Paszkiet attended Washington High School where he played end on the 1940 and 1941 football teams. He enrolled at Purdue—but was called into military service before completing a semester.

After a stint with the U.S. Coast Guard, he entered Notre Dame in 1946 and played with the freshman football squad. He dropped football to join the Irish training staff as a student assistant, a position he held until his graduation in January, 1950.

Paszkiet went to work as a member of Hugh Devore's athletic staff at New York University—then returned to Notre Dame in July, 1952.

He and the former Patricia Kedzie of South Bend were married in 1955. They have five children: Mary Patricia, 26; John William, 24; Ann, 22; Robert Stephen, 21; and James Robert, 20.

Skip Meyer—Assistant Trainer

Meyer, who helps with the health care and treatment of all Notre Dame varsity athletes in addition to traveling with the basketball team, attended Central Connecticut State College. He received an A.S. degree in recreation and a bachelor of science degree in health and physical education in 1974. He also served as a student trainer during his undergraduate days.

Meyer obtained a master's of education degree from Trenton State College in 1976 while working as a graduate assistant trainer. He also teaches a variety of courses in the Notre Dame physical education department.

He was married in July to the former Pam Colangelo of Torrington, Conn.

The '81 Season

LSU

Notre Dame 27, LSU 9 September 12 Notre Dame Stadium

It seemed only fitting that the lights of the Notre Dame Stadium scoreboard displayed the final 27-9 score of Notre Dame's season-opening victory over LSU long after darkness had enveloped the field.

For rookie Irish coach Gerry Faust had certainly made his mark on the Notre Dame football scene earlier that day on that hallowed field. It had been a day that Faust, his team and Irish fans had been anticipating for months—and no one could have been disappointed.

With the revamped Irish offense displaying all the motion, shifting and diversity Faust had promised, Notre Dame scored the first two times it had the ball—then banked on an expectedly-tough defense to hold down the fort. And Faust, who admits he's a "people person," remained in character even on the sidelines as he played 65 of the 121 players who dressed for the game.

If Faust had the jitters at all when he first came out the tunnel, his defense quickly waylaid them. LSU's first possession was ruined when Joe Rudzinski clobbered Tiger quarterback Alan Risher, forcing a fumble that Kevin Griffith recovered. Five plays later—less than three minutes into the contest—Blair Kiel shot a seven-yard toss to fullback Larry Moriarty on a crossing pattern, his initial career touchdown pass for the Irish.

Once the Irish forced an LSU punt, they needed only five more plays to zip 72 yards for another score. Tailback Greg Bell ate up 41 of those yards on one scamper, and Phil Carter scooted the final yard for the six points.

Protecting that 14-0 advantage, Notre Dame's defense went to work for good.

First, cornerback Stacey Toran made a leaping end zone interception (his first of two) of a Risher attempt after LSU had moved to the Irish 22. Later, two minutes before the end of the half, an LSU interception of a Kiel pass set the Tigers up deep in Irish territory. But after reaching the Notre Dame two, All-America linebacker Bob Crable made three consecutive stops, finally forcing a fumble on fourth down.

In between the defensive efforts, the Irish traveled 69 yards on offense for a 20-0 advantage after Hunter dove the final yard for the touchdown. Fifty-three of those yards belonged to Hunter—as he also caught passes for 18 and 22 yards during that march, to go with a 13-yard gain on a pitchout sweep.

LSU turned an interception into a quick 22-yard field goal to open the second half but never really got back into the ball game. The Tigers' only touchdown came with just 23 seconds remaining in the contest.

The Irish—with Faust alternating Kiel and senior Tim Koegel at QB every two series—added a final touchdown on a six-yard diving stab by Dave Condeni of a Koegel throw. It marked the first time those two former high school teammates had hooked up for a completion since they were helping Faust win games at Moeller.

With tailbacks Bell, Carter and freshman Chris Smith combining for 186 rushing yards, the Irish also gave Hunter his first opportunity at wingback after he spent the last two years as a wide receiver. Hunter responded by gaining 42 yards on 11 rushing attempts (only Carter carried more times) while also catching a pair of passes, both of which nearly went for touchdowns.

Faust, who had been dreaming of this day for a lifetime, made sure he enjoyed every moment of it. He spent a half-hour before the game sampling the atmosphere on campus while riding in a golf cart with two of his assistants and associate athletic director Col. Jack Stephens. And in the end, the day belonged to that new Notre Dame coach who couldn't have asked for much more from his collegiate debut.

Michigan

Michigan 25, Notre Dame 7 September 19 Michigan Stadium

Michigan showed little respect for Notre Dame's number-one ranking as the Wolverines dominated the line of scrimmage and the Irish in posting a convincing 25-7 triumph in front of a national television audience and a crowd of 105,888, third largest in Michigan Stadium history.

The Notre Dame loss effectively punctured the balloon of first-year coach Gerry Faust and his Irish—while helping salve the wounds from the Wolverines' surprising season-opening loss at Wisconsin the previous Saturday. Michigan coach Bo Schembechler, who had his team watch films of Faust's Moeller High School team in preparation, saw it pay off.

Early possessions for both teams told the story of things to come. Michigan took the opening kickoff and, without completing a pass, drove 74 yards—beginning with a 26-yard keeper by quarterback Steve Smith on the first play. Notre Dame's defense regrouped and forced a field-goal attempt that went wide—but the lengthy march presaged Michigan's dominance of the ground action.

Notre Dame came right back with a drive of its own that mirrored the Irish frustration as far as putting points on the scoreboard. Following an exchange of punts, the Irish drove from their own 16 all the way to the Michigan four-yard line. With Harry Oliver in position to kick a fourth-down field goal that would have put the visitors on top, holder Dave Condeni wheeled left and threw the ball to a wide-open Tony Hunter. The toss was high, however, and Hunter fell at the four in catching the ball. The momentum shifted in Michigan's favor with that play—which proved to be the only Irish opportunity to score until after the Wolverines put four touchdowns on the board.

Michigan attempted a trick play of its own early in the second period when speedy Anthony Carter dropped the ball for a 12-yard loss on a wingback reverse. On the next play, however, Smith lofted a long throw in Carter's direction and he gathered in it behind the secondary on a combination good for 71 yards. The fourth longest pass play in Wolverine annals.

Notre Dame never passed its own 23-yard stripe during the remainder of the initial half—and only a John Krimm interception on his own eight kept the Michigan halftime margin at 7-0.

Schembechler's charges capitalized on another Irish mistake—this one a wingback pass from Hunter to Dean Masztak that was picked off by Keith Bostic. With the steady running attack eating up the necessary yardage, Michigan advanced to the Irish 15 where Carter caught another toss from Smith and faked out a couple of Notre Dame defenders to score.

The Wolverines made it 19-0 on their very next possession on a drive that featured nary a single pass completion. The only attempt produced an interference call against Notre Dame that allowed Lawrence Ricks to reach the end zone from the one. Michigan again disdained the pass on its final scoring drive that lasted 53 yards. Smith ended up completing only four passes (two were intercepted) among his 15 attempts—but the two Carter caught for scores turned out to be all he needed.

Down 25-0, Notre Dame worked almost exclusively through the air during the final period with Tim Koegel getting most of the work. He had one throw picked off at the Michigan four—but he did find Dean Masztak for an eight-yard scoring toss midway through that last quarter.

The Michigan defense was superb in holding the Irish without a first down in the middle two periods and limiting them to 70 net rushing yards. Butch Woolfolk nearly doubled that figure on his own with 139 yards—with complementary help from Smith (64 yards), Stanley Edwards (52) and Ricks (40).

Purdue

Purdue 15, Notre Dame 14 September 26 Ross-Ade Stadium

Purdue borrowed a page from Notre Dame's book of last-second victories as the Boilermakers utilized a late drive and two-point conversion to stun the Irish with a 15-14 miracle finish.

Neither team's offense showed many signs of life in the first half. Purdue missed on a 31-yard field-goal attempt by Rick Anderson after reaching the Irish 14—and the Boilers' only other threat fizzled at the Irish 29 when Scott Campbell threw an incompletion on a fourth-and-one play.

Notre Dame earned the only points of the half following that Purdue failure by going 71 yards in 11 plays in the other direction. Tim Koegel, who played all the way and completed all six of his pass attempts in the opening half, hit Dave Condeni for 21 yards and Mike Boushka for 25 to keynote the drive. Freshman Chris Smith carried from his tailback slot on six of the 11 plays, including a final attempt from a yard out that accounted for the six points.

After Harry Oliver missed a 51-yard field-goal try midway through the third period for the 13th-ranked Irish, the Boilers came through with a score of their own. Three Campbell completions, two Campbell keepers and three Wally Jones runs made up the drive—with Jones' final one-yard plunge tying the score with 1:21 remaining in the third quarter.

Other than another 51-yard Oliver miss early in the final period, that was the extent of the fireworks until things begin heating up in the final minutes of the game.

First, it was Notre Dame's turn to take control with what appeared to be a game-winning drive.

Following a Purdue punt, the Irish took over at midfield with 3:47 left in the contest—and Phil Carter promptly took things into his own hands.

First, Carter—who finished as the top rusher in the game with 113 yards on 21 carries—zipped over right tackle for 15 yards to the Purdue 35. Next, he headed through right end for five yards. Finally, he romped through the line and cut back for a 30-yard scoring play. Oliver's extra point made it 14-7 with 2:57—and it was a simple matter of Notre Dame's defense holding the Boilers to achieve the victory.

Purdue, however, had other ideas. Taking over on their own 20, the Boilers shifted into gear. The Irish made it tough for the home squad deep in its own territory, but on fourth-and-one from its 29, Purdue's Jones squirted through for three yards and new life.

Campbell was sacked on the next play for a loss of three yards—but he came right back to hit Eric Jordan for a 29-yard gain to the Notre Dame 43. Following an incompletion, Campbell came up with the first of three plays that broke the backs of the Irish.

Flushed from the pocket by a fierce Notre Dame rush, Campbell scrambled before finally seeing Everett Pickens in the end zone. His pass was short—but flanker Steve Bryant managed to grab it at the one-yard line.

Notre Dame then put together the makings of a superb goal-line stand. On first-and-goal from the one, Stacey Toran nailed Jones on a sweep for a loss of six yards. Second and third downs produced incompletions, thanks to nifty defensive plays by Toran and Bob Crable. The Boilers were down to fourth down from the seven—and this time Campbell found Bryant with a perfect over-the-shoulder pass to the corner of the end zone.

With Bryant working against Chris Brown—who was filling in for injured veteran John Krimm—the Boilers went for two points and the win and executed the exact same play to the opposite side of the field. The 15-14 margin with 19 seconds on the scoreboard held up when a desperation Koegel pass was intercepted by Tim Seneff.

Michigan State

Notre Dame 20, Michigan State 7 October 3 Notre Dame Stadium

Notre Dame seized a golden opportunity on the very first play from scrimmage as a quick recovery of a Michigan State fumble helped set the tone for a 20-7 Irish victory that helped take the sting out of two consecutive road defeats.

Back in the friendly confines of Notre Dame Stadium, the Irish wasted no time at all. Spartan fullback Tony Ellis fumbled on the initial play following the opening kickoff, and Kevin Griffith promptly recovered on the Michigan State 23. Four minutes later, Greg Bell went in from the one on a fourth-down play—and the Irish were never behind the rest of the afternoon.

After holding the Spartans without a first down on their second possession, Notre Dame again set sail for the end zone. Bell did the majority of the damage on this occasion as well, totaling 51 yards during the drive including 32 up the middle for the touchdown. The sophomore running back finished the day with 165 yards, the highest individual total for the entire '81 season, and that figure didn't include a 75-yard scoring dash that was called back by penalty.

With that 14-0 first-period margin in hand, the Irish defense did most of the work the rest of the way. Yet, even when the Notre Dame lead was threatened, its offense proved equal to the task.

The Spartans, denied much of anything on the ground, struck through the air for their only scoring of the day. Bryan Clark fired the home run ball to Daryl Turner for 63 yards and, suddenly, the lead had been cut in half.

But the Irish offense, taking over with only 1:02 remaining in the first half, wasn't ready to quit. Bell ripped off separate gains of 22 and 26 yards to personally leave his teammates in prime position. The 61-yard advance eventually ended at the Michigan State 21 where Harry Oliver promptly booted a 38-yard field goal with five seconds left on the clock. Far more important than the three points were the psychological benefits provided by the last-minute exercise.

The second half proved to be anything but an offensive display—yet it could hardly have been more pleasing to the eye of Faust.

The Irish offense proved to be its best defense in the final 30 minutes as Notre Dame controlled the football for more than 19 minutes, including 11:41 in the final period alone.

The Spartans hit for 86 passing yards in that second half—but they finished with but 21 net rushing yards, including only four in the first half. Forced to the air much of the final half, Michigan State had only two legitimate scoring opportunities and neither materialized. With Clark either throwing or keeping himself on 10 of the 12 plays during one drive, he led his team to the Irish 37. But freshman Aaron Roberts lost control of the football following a 14-yard gain on a dump-pass play—and Griffith recovered again.

The Spartans' next possession again produced a threat following a short Blair Kiel punt that rolled dead on the Michigan State 49. This time Clark threw to Alan Kimichik good for 24 yards to set the visitors up on the Notre Dame 19. But the Irish stop troops held strong, and a 36-yard field-goal try by Morton Andersen went wide.

The Irish, meanwhile, did a nifty job of displaying possession football in the second half on their way to season-high totals of 21 first downs and 300 net rushing yards.

The sole Notre Dame scoring came on a 34-yard field goal by Oliver midway through the third quarter. Once again, it was Bell who set it up with successive 11-yard dashes to open the drive. Quarterback Tim Koegel helped run the final 5:33 off the clock on a 66-yard trip that finished the game on the Michigan State 16.

Faust also appreciated improvement shown by the Irish offensive and defensive lines. Koegel wasn't sacked once, and the Notre Dame front four managed to come alive to put the necessary pressure on the Spartan throwers.

Florida State

Florida State 19, Notre Dame 13 October 10 Notre Dame Stadium

Amidst a tortuous five-game road swing that featured successive games against Nebraska, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and LSU—Florida State found its stop in Notre Dame Stadium more enjoyable than it might have anticipated as the Seminoles revved up their second-half running game to help post a 19-13 victory.

Coming on the heels of their 36-27 win the previous week at Ohio State, the win over the Irish without question marked the high point of the Florida State Season. And it was a reversal of offensive form that particularly did in Notre Dame.

Seminole quarterback Rick Stockstill had completed 25 passes for 299 yards against the Buckeyes, so the Irish were well-prepared for an aerial invasion. Stockstill didn't disappoint anyone, either, as he threw on his first four downs and on 10 of the initial 13 plays run by Florida State. Only first-half interceptions deep in Irish territory by Mark Zavagnin and Chris Brown saved Notre Dame. Still, Mike Rendina's 25-yard field goal late in the second period proved to be the visitors' only scoring in the first half.

Notre Dame, on the other hand, had little more luck finding the end zone. The Irish had hoped to be able to move the ball against a Florida State defense that gave up 458 passing yards to Ohio State and 464 rushing yards to Nebraska. That plan went according to form as Dave Duerson brought the opening kickoff back 36 yards, the Irish quickly moved to the Seminole 26 and Harry Oliver bounced a 43-yard field goal off the top of the left upright.

That, however, was as effective as the Irish offense would get in the first 30 minutes. Despite 72 rushing yards from Greg Bell, five of Notre Dame's seven first-half possessions ended in Blair Kiel punts. The only other serious threat fizzled when a fourth-down Tim Koegel pass from the Seminole 27 fell incomplete.

The Irish picked up on an early chance to take control as the second half unfolded. Zavagnin picked off Stockstill's first pass attempt and brought it back to the Florida State seven. The Seminoles held firm, though, and forced Oliver to kick successfully from 23 yards. The tone of the game changed completely from there as Florida State's game plan came to fruition.

After gaining only six rushing yards in the opening quarter, Florida State came back with 244 in the final three. Stockstill, after throwing 20 first-half passes, threw but seven in the last two periods. and tailback Ricky Williams accounted for 101 second-half rushing yards on his own to set an example of the Seminole strategy reversal.

Following Oliver's third-period field goal, Florida State needed less than three minutes and only six plays to go 80 yards and take the lead for good.

Bobby Bowden's crew came right back for a field goal on its very next possession as only a procedure penalty with the ball on the one kept the Seminoles out of touchdown range.

A lost Irish fumble on their own 22 handed Florida State another possibility for points, but a Rendina field-goal attempt from 34 yards went wide right. Then, it was Notre Dame's turn to put on an impressive drive.

The 80-yard Irish march got off to a quick start when a Kiel pass to Mike Boushka produced a 32-yard interference call against the visitors. The Notre Dame rushing game came alive again, thanks to Bell and wingback John Mosley, and Bell's one-yard vault left the contest deadlocked at 13.

Florida State took advantage of a costly Kiel interception to lock the victory away. James Harris' pickoff left the Seminoles on Notre Dame's 31, and they needed only five plays to reach the end zone. Rendina missed the extra point to leave the Irish within striking distance. But three possessions—with both Kiel and Tim Koegel trying their hand under center—didn't advance the Irish past their own 45.

USC

USC 14, Notre Dame 7 October 24 Notre Dame Stadium

For the fourth time in five weeks Notre Dame lost a football game, but the 14-7 Irish loss to USC on a late Trojan score proved to Gerry Faust that his team had come of age even in defeat.

With two weeks to prepare for USC, Faust made some beneficial changes that paid quick dividends as the Irish came up with probably their most consistent all-around performance versus the Trojans.

Faust initially made the decision to stick with Blair Kiel at quarterback. He went the distance and responded by hitting 12 of 23 attempts for 115 yards, easily his most impressive effort of the young season.

With split ends Dave Condeni and Mike Boushka both sidelined by season-ending leg injuries, the Irish switched Tony Hunter from wingback to split end and he responded by catching five balls for 76 yards.

The Irish managed to hold their own against the massive Trojans in the trenches—and actually edged USC in total offense by a 312-264 count. Notre Dame had no interceptions and its only lost fumble came with 11 seconds remaining. The only Irish penalty was taken deliberately and was refused by USC.

The Irish defense also did a nifty all-around job. It allowed only 46 passing yards to USC, a figure that proved to be tops for the entire '81 campaign. Eventual Heisman Trophy winner Marcus Allen gained 147 yards, but that proved to be his lowest single-game output of the entire season. And Irish tailback Phil Carter matched him yard for yard in finishing with 161 of his own.

Despite the fact the loss left the Irish 2-4, the contest left Faust and Irish fans feeling their team was headed in the right direction again.

Notre Dame's defense was masterful in the scoreless first half. Both times the Trojans penetrated Irish territory, critical third-down plays—one each by Mike Larkin and Tony Belden—knocked the visitors out of field-goal range and forced punts.

USC was just as good on that side of the line of scrimmage. Thirty-seven rushing yards by Carter during one Notre Dame march landed the Irish on the Trojan two—but USC held and a Harry Oliver field-goal try from 20 yards misfired.

Trojan coach John Robinson termed the game a heavyweight fight that would be decided in the late rounds. His Trojans delivered the first knockdown midway through the third period with a three-play combination. Quarterback John Mazur scrambled for 24 yards, fullback Todd Spencer slipped through the middle for 27 more and Allen skittered the final six for six points.

Notre Dame came right back, using eight plays to go the length of the field to tie the game. Carter again did most of the damage, accounting for 31 yards on the ground including the final five.

But, after Oliver missed again—this time from 24 yards—the Trojans came up with their final shot. A David Pryor punt penned the Irish in at their own three. After a Kiel punt from the end zone, USC enjoyed optimum field position by taking over at the Notre Dame 44. Allen gained 21 yards on the first play—and Spencer surprised the Irish again, one play later, by countering up the middle for 26 yards and the deciding points.

The Irish weren't down for the count yet. Joe Howard's 56-yard kickoff return put them in enemy territory, but Carter couldn't negotiate the necessary yardage on fourth-and-one from the USC 33.

Kiel gave it one more shot in the final minute and completed three passes to push his teammates to the Trojan 26. But the football slipped from his grasp as he lay pinned on the ground after scrambling for a yard, and Chip Banks recovered with 11 seconds to go to seal the verdict.

Navy

Notre Dame 38, Navy 0 October 31 Notre Dame Stadium

Notre Dame unleashed a couple of new aerial weapons against Navy—unveiling freshman split end Joe Howard, in particular—to sink the Middies 38-0 in the third of five consecutive home tests for the Irish.

Irish coach Gerry Faust first moved Tony Hunter to tight end—his third position in three weeks—and he responded by hauling in four passes for 82 yards, one of them a 27-yarder from Blair Kiel for the third Irish touchdown.

But the big news in the small package was Howard, who had impressed the Notre Dame coaches the previous Saturday with his 56-yard kickoff return against USC. This time he made the starting lineup and made it pay off by catching five passes for 115 yards and one touchdown and scoring a second on a reverse. Meanwhile, Kiel was enjoying the top passing effort of his college career by connecting on 13 of 25 throws for 225 yards and a couple of scores.

Kiel and Howard wasted no time displaying the new-found Irish connection. They hooked up on a 34-yard completion on Notre Dame's very first play from scrimmage. Kiel eventually called his own number from the Middie one, and the Irish never looked back.

Those same two individuals combined to reach paydirt again just six minutes later. In culminating a 53-yard drive, Kiel threw a crunching block at the corner, and Howard motored 13 yards on the reverse for a 14-0 advantage.

Notre Dame's next try produced a 47-yard field-goal miss by Harry Oliver, but its initial second-period possession fared better. This time it proved to be the Kiel-to-Hunter combo that clicked to perfection. Kiel orchestrated the 83-yard march by completing five of six throws. On third-and-19 from the Irish 19, he drilled the ball down the middle to Hunter for 35 yards. Then, on fourth-and-two at the Navy 27, Kiel executed a nice play-action maneuver by lofting the ball over a linebacker to Hunter who took it in midstride into the end zone.

The Irish added one more score prior to the halftime break. Following a Midshipman punt, Kiel reared back and hit Howard at the Navy 18. He eluded a pair of potential tacklers for a 52-yard scoring play. The one-play drive lasted all of 11 seconds. Notre Dame's defense was no less impressive in limiting Navy to one first down and 15 rushing yards in the opening 30 minutes.

Irish defenders played a part in the first Notre Dame score of the second half as well. Linebacker Mark Zavagnin blasted through the Middie line five minutes into the second half and forced quarterback Marco Pagnanelli to cough up the ball on the option—and Joe Rudzinski pounced on the loose ball at the Navy 23. The Middie defense held strong this time and the Irish settled for a 37-yard Harry Oliver field goal for a 31-0 advantage.

Tim Koegel finished out the offensive assault with a 20-yard swing pass to fullback Larry Moriarty midway through the last quarter, capping a 40-yard excursion.

Faust's defensive unit was no less effective after intermission. It finished by allowing Navy a grand total of 36 rushing yards. The five first downs and 123 total yards registered by the visitors ranked as season bests for the '81 season for Notre Dame.

The Irish, in particular, shut down talented running back Eddie Meyers. He came into the game with 666 rushing yards but managed a mere 39 versus Notre Dame. Navy wasn't able to cross midfield until the third period—and its only journey into Irish territory was sabotaged by a fourth-down Bob Crable hit that knocked the ball loose form Pagnanelli. Ten of Navy's 14 possessions concluded without a first down.

The Notre Dame offense, on the other hand, came up with season bests in plays run (73), first downs (21) and total offense yards (442).

Georgia Tech

Notre Dame 35, Georgia Tech 3 November 7 Notre Dame Stadium

Notre Dame made effective use of a pair of big plays to dent Georgia Tech's armor in the opening half, setting the stage for a 35-3 triumph in the '81 home finale for the Irish.

Freshman Joe Howard proved to be the man of the hour for the second straight week by grabbing a pair of Blair Kiel passes for touchdowns, including one good for the Notre Dame record books as the longest completion in Irish history.

Despite its 1-7 record, Georgia Tech did some quick work following the opening kickoff to nab an early 3-0 advantage. Tailback Robert Lavette, who set a Notre Dame opponent record by catching 14 passes in the game, grabbed two on the first two plays following the kickoff to send the Yellow Jackets on their way. Tech motored as far as the Irish 22 before Ron Rice's 39-yard three-pointer put the visitors ahead.

The Irish had no success at all moving the football on their initial two possessions. When Notre Dame took over a third time on its own seven, visions of the shocking 3-3 tie the previous season—when the Irish were ranked number one—danced in more than a few imaginations.

Kiel and Howard came to the rescue. On second-and-13 from the Notre Dame four, Kiel retreated to the end zone and fired a strike to the lithe rookie. He grabbed it at the Notre Dame 46 and sprinted the rest of the way for a record 96-yard scoring play that dug the Irish out of their hole.

The rout was not yet on, however, as the Engineers held Notre Dame on its next three possessions—once when a 25-yard Harry Oliver field goal missed. So Kiel and Howard hooked up again, this time on a 58-yard sidelined route with just over four minutes to go in the opening half.

The Irish widened their advantage with their first possession of the second half, this time driving 80 yards in eight plays with the opening kickoff. Sophomore wingback John Mosley accounted for the six points on a 20-yard reverse, the third time Kiel called that play during the drive. Greg Bell earlier went 41 yards on that call, and Howard scored a touchdown on it from eight yards out only to have it nullified by a penalty.

Defensively, the Irish limited Georgia Tech to 41 net rushing yards and they effectively contained Stu Rogers' short passing game that included 20 completions before the day was finished. Rogers paid for one of his mistakes, however, on the first play of the fourth quarter. Bob Crable got in front of a Rogers throw and returned it 33 yards to the Tech 26. From there Tim Koegel guided his teammates the rest of the way—with his 14-yard completion to Mosley making the count 28-3.

Faust worked to get as many seniors into their finale Notre Dame Stadium appearance—and three of them stood out in helping Notre Dame put up its last score.

Koegel, who hit six of his seven tosses for 64 yards, found Ron Mishler for 25 yards for the first reception of the tight end's career. A 10-yard touchdown toss to Tim Tripp took care of the last yards of the 52-yard march and represented Tripp's first touchdown pass in an Irish uniform.

Though Kiel hit only seven of his 18 attempts, the early big gainers allowed him and Koegel to combine for 253 aerial yards, Notre Dame's top total for the season. Their combined four scoring passes marked the most since five against Tech in 1977. And Kiel's 529 passing yards in his last three games were only two less than his entire freshman season total.

Crable contributed 13 tackles, leaving him three shy of Bob Golic's career mark in that category. John Krimm and Dave Duerson joined Crable on the interception list in helping make things difficult for the Engineers.

Air Force

Notre Dame 35, Air Force 7 | November 14 | Falcon Stadium

Riled by an Air Force touchdown early in the final period, Notre Dame's offense came to life by scoring three times in the last 12 minutes of the game—as a nifty Tim Koegel relief effort paved the way for a 35-7 Irish victory that wasn't as easy as it looked.

Phil Carter put a pair of first-half scores on the board for Notre Dame, on his way to a 156-yard effort. Quarterback Blair Kiel set up the first one by slipping 31 yards down the sideline, leaving Carter only four yards away from the end zone. The second touchdown came following an Air Force fumble of a Kiel punt, with Joe Johnson's recovery setting the visitors up on the Air Force 19. Carter did all the work the rest of the way, carrying five straight times until crossing the goal line.

With the Notre Dame defense doing a more than creditable job and Bob Crable setting the record for most career tackles early in the contest, the Irish took the 14-0 cushion into the locker room.

Whether the Irish were lulled mentally or physically by the Colorado atmosphere, the Falcons began an infantry attack from their own 20 with 5:47 left in the third period. Quarterback Ed Antoine came off the bench to direct the march which lasted 16 plays and nearly seven minutes and didn't conclude until fullback John Kershner escaped Crable's grasp to go the final nine yards.

The Air Force score quickly awoke the sleeping giant Irish who also looked to a reserve signalcaller to direct the action. With Kiel obviously weakened by a viral attack that hospitalized him for 48 hours earlier in the week, Gerry Faust turned to backup Tim Koegel to quell the Falcons, and he came through in fine fashion.

With the lead cut to 14-7, Koegel quickly directed his mates 71 yards—eating up 16 on a pass to Greg Bell, 43 on a surge up the middle by Carter and finally 16 on a scamper around right end by Bell.

Air Force showed definite signs of making things interesting once again, as Antoine led his troops to the Irish 40 before losing the ball on downs.

Taking over on its own 38 with eight minutes remaining in the contest, Notre Dame meticulously ground out the yardage needed for another score. Koegel threw once to Tony Hunter for 18 yards, but running plays made up the remainder of the drive as the Falcons utilized double coverage most of the afternoon on split end Joe Howard. That, however, opened up the overland routes for 276 yards, five of them on a Larry Moriarty dash that made it 28-7.

The Irish weren't finished yet. With freshman quarterback Ken Karcher leading the parade, classmates Chris Smith and Mark Brooks accounted for 20- and 12-yard runs in the final minute as a fifth touchdown hit the scoreboard.

Though Air Force coach Ken Hatfield admitted to being heartsick about the final margin, he had to be pleased that his Faclons had hung in with the bigger and stronger Irish far into the second half. and Gerry Faust had to be relieved that his troops had escaped a dogfight despite Kiel's ills and several other injuries that thrust freshmen like Joe Bars and Mike Gann into major roles. His Irish rolled above the .500 mark again with their third straight victory—by holding off an Air Force contingent that had two weeks to prepare after coming off two successive victories.

Carter's 100-yard-plus rushing effort marked his third such day of the season and the eighth time in his career he had topped the 100-yard barrier. The lone touchdown scored by Air Force also marked the first six-pointer allowed by the Irish defense in 11 quarters dating back to the USC game.

Penn State

Penn State 24, Notre Dame 21 November 21 Beaver Stadium

A clutch, length-of-the-field scoring march late in the fourth quarter put Penn State ahead for good in a nip-and-tuck 24-21 victory over Notre Dame. But the Irish proved they did indeed belong on the same field with a Nittany Lion team that went on to upset Pittsburgh and USC in its next two outings.

With the momentum of three consecutive victories riding with them, the Irish took on Penn State during the regular season for the first time in 53 years. And they were facing a Joe Paterno team stung by a 31-16 home loss to Alabama the previous weekend.

The Nittany Lions looked like they wanted no part of a second straight loss, if their first three plays were any indication. First Harry Hamilton brought the opening kickoff back 50 yards. Next, tailback Jon Williams, subbing for injured standout Curt Warner, danced 39 yards through the left side. Finally, Williams bolted the last four yards around left end for a 7-0 advantage 41 seconds into the contest.

Notre Dame retaliated just as quickly. Greg Bell came up with a 37-yard kickoff return of his own. Then, Blair Kiel blazed a bullet to Joe Howard good for 40 yards to the Penn State one. Phil Carter went the final three feet, and two minutes and 15 seconds into the game it was tied at seven.

The Lions found themselves in prime position again after Dave Duerson mishandled a Penn State punt, leaving the home team on the Irish 12. Notre Dame came up with a superb goal-line stand, forcing Penn State to use seven plays and two fourth-down attempts to traverse the final four yards. Quarterback Todd Blackledge finally wedged in for the score on fourth down, but the 14-7 lead hadn't come easily.

Still, a following 84-yard drive from the Penn State five ended in a field goal that enabled the Lions to hold a convincing 17-7 advantage.

Two costly Penn State turnovers—one just before and one just after halftime—combined to enable Notre Dame to take the lead.

First Bob Clasby stripped the ball from Blackledge's grasp and Tim Marshall recovered for the Irish on the Penn State 39 with 1:52 to go in the opening half. Kiel made the turnover pay off for this squad, thanks to a 17-yard scoring toss deflected through the hands of Paul Lankford into Tony Hunter's waiting arms.

Bob Crable intercepted Blackledge on the third play of the third period to set his teammates up in prime position on the Penn State five. Two plays later, Kiel found John Sweeney in the corner of the end zone for his first-ever touchdown reception and a 21-17 Irish lead.

The Irish defense kept the Nittany Lions at bay, and Kiel and Co. appeared to have a golden chance to pad their lead early in the final period. A Kiel-to-Howard aerial good for 38 yards got things started, but the yards came tougher near the goal line. Finally, on a fourth-and-one play at the Penn State four, Bell was stopped cold.

Kiel was intercepted by Gregg Gattuso on the next Irish series, and Penn State began what proved to be the game-winning trip downfield. Williams chalked up 46 yards all by himself on three carries, and it was finally Blackledge who crossed the goal line from a yard out with less than four minutes to go.

The Irish got the ball back twice more, but their final thrust ended at the Penn State 39 when a fourth-down Kiel throw for Howard fell incomplete.

Thanks to Williams' 192 yards—the most gained by a back against the Irish in '81—Penn State received a Fiesta Bowl invitation to meet USC. Despite a valiant effort, Notre Dame was forced to wait another week to try to guarantee a winning season for Gerry Faust.

Miami

Miami 37, Notre Dame 15 | November 27 | Orange Bowl

Denied an opportunity for a post-season bowl appearance despite a record that reached 9-2, Miami took out its frustration on Notre Dame by posting a convincing 37-15 triumph over the Irish in the Orange Bowl.

The Hurricanes struck early and often and did it most of the afternoon through the air. Miami's sixth straight victory came about largely through the efforts of junior quarterback Jim Kelly who threw for 238 yards in the first half alone as the Hurricanes roared to a 30-6 advantage at intermission.

Kelly finished the day with 17 completions in 25 attempts for 264 yards, making him Miami's all-time passing leader and enabling the Hurricanes to defeat Notre Dame for only the second time in the 15-game series. Notre Dame, on the other hand, ended up at 5-6 for its first losing season since 1963.

Kelly's throwing also helped him to set single-season marks for passing yards and touchdown passes—and he wasted little time getting started. He led the Hurricanes 80 yards for a score with the opening kickoff, with a 44-yard bomb to Larry Brodsky the big gainer.

Greg Bell got the Irish right back into it by bringing the ensuing kickoff back 98 yards for a score, but Miami just kept coming. The Hurricanes fumbled once on Notre Dame's 13 after a 67-yard march—but an interception of a Blair Kiel pass set them up just inside midfield. Four plays later Kelly found Mike Rodrigue for the six points.

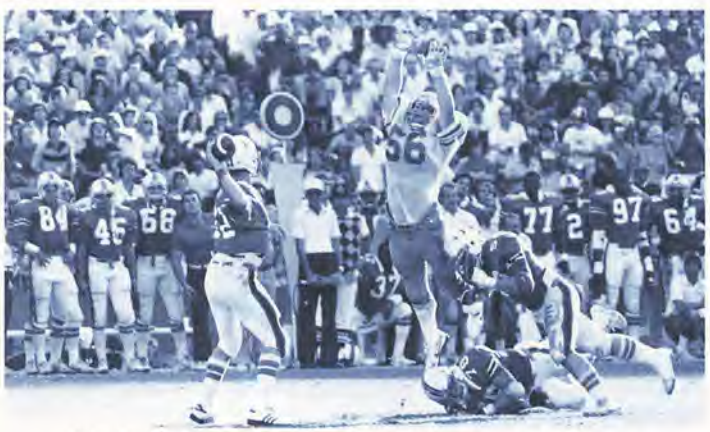
A 38-yard Miami punt return set Danny Miller up for a 49-yard field goal, the first of three in the second period. He later added boots of 53 and 24 yards—with a 63-yard scoring toss from Kelly to Ricky Belk in between.

Miami rolled up 349 first-half total yards compared to just four first downs for Notre Dame—so the issue was nearly decided by the halfway mark.

The Irish drove 52 yards for a 36-yard Harry Oliver field goal to open the second half, but an 88-yard interception return by Dave Duerson provided the only other Notre Dame points. Miami added insult to injury by intercepting a Kiel pass and adding yet another six-pointer to the board with just four seconds left in the game.

Split end Joe Howard provided one of the few other Irish bright spots by catching five passes for 77 yards to earn the Notre Dame MVP award from ABC Sports.

But the 37 points recorded by the Hurricanes marked the most given up by Notre Dame since the '74 finale versus USC, a 55-24 Trojan win. A national television audience viewed the contest, as well as 50,681 fans in the Orange Bowl for Miami's largest home crowd since 1971.



Kevin Griffith reaches as Jim Kelly prepares to throw.

'25 Rose Bowl

Notre Dame 27, Stanford 10 January 1, 1925

PASADENA, CALIFORNIA—With the fabled Four Horsemen making their final appearance together, Notre Dame ventured to the distant West Coast and proved its worth by downing Stanford 27-10 in the 1925 Rose Bowl. The win gave the Fighting Irish a 10-0 record for the 1924 season and the national championship.

Although Pop Warner's Indians won the battle of the statistics—besting Notre Dame in virtually every offensive category—the Irish, coached by Knute Rockne, capitalized on Stanford miscues and came up on top on the scoreboard.

Stanford opened the scoring in the first quarter as Murray Cuddeback kicked a 27-yard field goal. But that was all the Indians could manage until late in the game when the outcome was almost assured.

Elmer Layden shone as a sparkling jewel in the Notre Dame crown all afternoon. The skinny fullback scored three touchdowns for the Irish, including two on interception returns. He also helped the Notre Dame cause with his punting that forced Stanford into poor field position on many occasions.

Layden's first score, a three-yard plunge across the goal line, capped a 46-yard drive by the Irish. Although Jim Crowley's kick failed, Notre Dame owned a 6-3 lead early in the second quarter.

Late in the second period, Layden stunned the capacity crowd of 53,000 in the Rose Bowl by intercepting an Ernie Nevers pass and galloping downfield for 78 yards for another touchdown. This time Crowley, another one of the Horsemen, converted the extra-point attempt.

Even though the stronger, more physical Stanford Indians were controlling the line play, Rockne's swift and crafty Irish kept putting points on the scoreboard.

Late in the third quarter, Stanford fumbled an Elmer Layden punt on its own 20-yard line. A quick-thinking Ed Hunsinger picked up the ball and ran untouched into the end zone for another Irish score. With Crowley's kick, Notre Dame held a commanding 30-3 lead.

Stanford finally staged a late rally and threatened to dash the Irish hopes of a Midwest victory. Nevers, a star on both offense and defense, provided the heroics as he intercepted a Notre Dame pass on the Stanford 20-yard line, thwarting an Irish scoring drive. He then guided the Indians downfield to the Irish seven. Another Stanford back, Ed Walker, passed to Ted Shipkey, a two-way star for the Indians, for the score. Cuddeback's kick brought Stanford back to within 10 points at 20-10.

The Indians moved into scoring territory again in the final stanza. Nevers brought Stanford all the way to the Notre Dame eight-inch line. But an inspired Irish line made a superb defensive stance on Nevers' final plunge, and the Notre Dame advantage stayed intact.

Notre Dame crossed the goal line a final time with only 30 seconds left in the contest that was played in 89-degree heat. Layden again intercepted a Nevers pass and took it 70 yards into the end zone. Crowley added the final touches with his kick.

Layden and Crowley proved the Irish standouts of the afternoon, but the two other Horsemen—Don Miller and quarterback Harry Stuhldreher—also played a big part in the Irish win. Stuhldreher broke an ankle early in the contest but continued to play despite the painful injury. Captain Adam Walsh anchored the line play at center.

The story of the game proved to be Notre Dame's penchant for turning Stanford mistakes into Irish scores.

"It is true that we got the breaks, but we would have won anyway," said Rockne. "It is one thing to get the breaks and another thing to take advantage of them. Stanford played a wonderful game, but we won fairly, playing the ball as it came to us, and we hope to be given credit for that."

'70 Cotton Bowl

Texas 21, Notre Dame 17 January 1, 1970

DALLAS, TEXAS—After a 45-year absence, Notre Dame reappeared on the bowl scene.

The Irish, who headed into battle with a respectable 8-1-1 record, drew the unenviable assignment of challenging the nation's number-one team—the unbeaten Longhorns of Texas. With visions of the Four Horsemen dancing in their heads, the Irish almost pulled off the upset. Only a 76-yard drive late in the final period, capped by Billy Dale's one-yard scoring plunge, gave the Longhorns a hard-fought 21-17 victory and insured their claim to the national title.

Although Texas won the annual Cotton Bowl Classic on this sun-drenched but chilly New Year's Day before a packed house of 73,000, Notre Dame, coached by Ara Parseghian, matched the powerful Longhorns yard for yard until the final gun.

The Irish opened the scoring in the first quarter as Scott Hempel converted a 26-yard field goal. After the opening kickoff junior quarterback Joe Theismann guided the Irish 82 yards downfield, eating up six minutes on the clock, to set the stage for Hempel's kick.

Notre Dame scored again early in the second period as Theismann shocked the Longhorns by tossing a 54-yard touchdown bomb to Tom Gatewood on the first play from scrimmage after a Texas punt. Hempel's kick made it 10-0 for Notre Dame.

The Longhorns first lit the scoreboard in the second quarter as they drove 74 yards in nine plays. Behind the running of Ted Koy and Jim Bertelsen and the passing of James Street, the Longhorns moved into Notre Dame territory and ended the scoring march on Bertelsen's one-yard dash into the end zone. Happy Feller converted the PAT and the Longhorns trailed 10-7.

Neither team crossed the goal line again until the final period.

Texas jumped out in front of the Irish in the fourth quarter on a bruising 77-yard drive. Steve Worster, the game's leading rusher with 155 yards, barreled his way through the Irish defense for long gains of eight, nine and seven yards, while Bertelsen, who finished the afternoon with 81 yards, added carries of five and six yards to the Longhorn effort. Koy took the ball in from the three, and Feller's kick gave Texas a 14-10 lead.

Notre Dame fought right back. With Theismann at the controls, Notre Dame went 80 yards in eight plays to go ahead 17-14. The feisty Theismann put together scampers of 14 and 11 yards and tossed an 11-yard pass to Dennis Allan. The Irish finally scored on a 24-yard touchdown pass from Theismann to Jim Yoder.

With still seven minutes left in the battle, coach Darryl Royal and his Longhorns weren't about to watch their national championship dreams be snuffed out by an upstart group of Irishmen from Notre Dame. Texas made the most of its final surge. Twice the Longhorns needed conversions on fourth down to maintain possession, and the final one dashed Notre Dame's hopes. Street, on fourth and two from the Irish 10-yard line, threw low and wide to end Cotton Speyrer, but the lanky redhead snared it as it hit the ground at the two. The Irish defense then halted a pair of Longhorn rushing plays, but on the third try, Dale found the end zone and the Longhorns had their national championship with only 1:08 left on the clock.

Notre Dame tried another comeback attempt with the seconds ticking away. Theismann brought the Irish all the way to the Texas 39, but with 28 seconds left, Tom Campbell intercepted Theismann's final pass.

Worster earned the game's offensive player award, while Notre Dame's captain Bob Olson won the most valuable defensive player honor.

Theismann's efforts established Cotton Bowl records in two categories. His 231 yards passing broke Roger Staubach's previous mark of 228 (1964) and his 279 yards total offense surpassed Duke Carlisle's 267 standard, also set in 1964.

'71 Cotton Bowl

Notre Dame 24, Texas 11 January 1, 1971

DALLAS, TEXAS—Notre Dame's defense caused nine Texas fumbles and All-America quarterback Joe Theismann personally accounted for three scores in the first 16½ minutes en route to a 24-11 Irish victory in the 1971 Cotton Bowl Classic.

The victory, Notre Dame's 10th against only one loss during the season, stopped the Longhorns' 30-game winning string and knocked top-ranked Texas out of the race for its second consecutive national championship.

The decisive win was the first bowl victory in 46 years for Notre Dame who returned to the postseason scene the year before after a 45-year absence.

Both teams displayed their offensive fireworks in the first half as the Irish built up a 24-11 advantage that held up until the final buzzer.

Texas cracked the scoring barrier early in the first period on Happy Feller's 23-yard field goal. On the first play of the Texas possession, quarterback Eddie Phillips rambled 63 yards downfield on an option play. But the Notre Dame defense stiffened its resistance and the Longhorns had to settle for only the three-pointer.

Then, Theismann ignited the Notre Dame charge by rallying the Irish to three touchdowns on their next four possessions. The senior all-star guided the Irish 80 yards in only 10 plays and tossed a 26-yard pass to Tom Gatewood for the touchdown. The scoring march included another Theismann pass to Gatewood (this one for 17 yards) and a Theismann scamper of 12 yards, along with runs of seven, 11 and six yards by John Cieszkowski. Scott Hempel's kick gave the Irish a 7-3 lead, and they never looked back.

Notre Dame increased its lead by seven 2½ minutes later. Tom Eaton recovered a Texas fumble on the kickoff at the Longhorn 13-yard line. Six plays later, Theismann took the ball in himself on a three-yard run. Hempel again converted the PAT.

The Irish scored again on another Theismann run—this one from 15 yards—early in the second period. He helped the Irish march the 53 yards in the drive by tossing a 19-yard pass to Mike Creaney. Ed Gulyas contributed a 12-yard run.

Although the Longhorns had trouble getting their famed Wishbone attack off the ground because of a unique Notre Dame defensive alignment, Texas did manage another score in the second period. Phillips abandoned the run and went to the most rusty weapon in the Longhorn arsenal—the pass. He hit tight end Deryl Comer three times (for eight, 36 and 10 yards) in an 84-yard drive that climaxed on Jim Bertelsen's two-yard run. A Phillips pass to Danny Lester added two points.

The Irish wrapped up the scoring on a 36-yard field goal by Hempel with 24 seconds remaining on the clock before intermission.

The second half turned into a defensive struggle as Notre Dame played it conservatively, and Texas tried to figure out the Irish defensive setup that featured six men on the line of scrimmage—with three across from the Longhorn center.

Neither team mounted much of a scoring threat. However, in the third period, the fired-up Notre Dame defense took the steam out of a promising Longhorn drive. Irish linebacker Jim Musuraca met Bertelsen head-on at the Notre Dame 35-yard line and forced another fumble, one of five recovered by the Irish, that gave the ball and the momentum to Notre Dame.

Texas, who entered the game as the nation's top-ranked rushing team with an average of 374 yards per game, managed only 216 yards against the Irish. Phillips accumulated 164 of those yards. Notre Dame's ground game netted only 146 yards, paced by Cieszkowski's 52.

Phillips, who combined for 363 yards total offense, erased Theismann's standard of 279, set the previous year. He was voted the top offense player, while Notre Dame's Clarence Ellis earned the defensive honor.

In the final rankings for the 1970 season, the Ara Parseghian-coached Irish finished second in the Associated Press poll and fifth in the United Press International tally. Texas, coached by Darryl Royal, was third in AP and first in the UPI ratings.

'73 Orange Bowl

Nebraska 40, Notre Dame 6 January 1, 1973

MIAMI, FLORIDA—Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Rodgers proved the award was justified by scoring four touchdowns and passing for another as ninth-ranked Nebraska smashed Notre Dame 40-6 in the 1973 Orange Bowl.

Although he left the game in the third period with 81 yards rushing on 15 carries, Rodgers scored on runs of eight, four and five yards, galloped down the sidelines on a 50-yard touchdown pass play from quarterback David Humm and tossed a 52-yard scoring aerial to Frosty Anderson as the Cornhuskers rolled to their third consecutive Orange Bowl conquest.

The defeat was the worst for the Irish since Ara Parseghian took over the Notre Dame coaching reins in 1964.

Nebraska, a Big Eight power, bolted to a 20-0 halftime lead and added three more touchdowns—all by Rodgers—in the third period before Notre Dame managed a meaningless touchdown in the final quarter. That six-pointer, a five-yard scoring pass from Tom Clements to Pete Demmerle, kept Notre Dame's streak of scoring in 72 straight games alive.

Rodgers scored his first touchdown in the first quarter on an eight-yard run that capped a 76-yard drive. That march also included scampers of 13 and 10 yards by Rodgers as well as runs of 12 and six yards by Dave Goeller. Rich Sanger's kick made it Nebraska 7, Notre Dame 0.

In the second quarter, Gary Dixon helped the Huskers go 80 yards in 11 plays with a 36-yard burst. He then plunged over from the one-yard line and Sanger's kick gave Nebraska a 14-0 lead.

On Nebraska's next possession, Humm lateraled to Rodgers on the first play from scrimmage. Rodgers then heaved his 52-yard pass to Frosty Anderson. That put the Irish in a 20-0 hole, and they never recovered.

Notre Dame's first-half problems resulted mainly from its inability to take advantage of excellent field position. During the first 30 minutes the Irish had first downs at the Nebraska 30, 29 and 25-yard lines but couldn't score. On two other occasions Clements' passes were intercepted, once at the Husker 18 and once at the Nebraska 41.

The Rodgers extravaganza continued after intermission. He scored on runs of four and five yards. He then took a screen pass from Humm and dashed 50 yards down the right sideline for the final Nebraska touchdown, its sixth of the day. Rodgers then retreated to the bench for the rest of the game. The Huskers already had inflicted enough damage on the Irish, who finished the year at 8-3.

Nebraska bested Notre Dame in just about every statistical category. The Huskers rolled up 560 yards total offense to Notre Dame's 207. Nebraska had 300 yards on the ground and 260 through the air, while the Irish had 104 yards rushing and 103 yards passing. Notre Dame managed only 13 first downs to Nebraska's 30.

Humm completed 13 of 19 passes for 185 yards, while his Irish counterpart, Tom Clements, was successful on nine of 22 attempts for 103.

In addition to his 81 yards rushing, Rodgers caught three passes for 71 yards.

Nebraska ended the year at 9-2-1, losing only to UCLA and Oklahoma and tying Iowa State. The victory proved a fitting end to the 11-year Nebraska career of head coach Bob Devaney.

"Nebraska was as good a ball club as I've seen," said Parseghian. "They executed and we didn't. And that Rodgers really is fantastic. They played him everywhere—wide receiver, split end, flanker—and it didn't make any difference. Nebraska just played an outstanding game."

"If there is any guy in the country that thinks Johnny Rodgers doesn't deserve the Heisman he should quit writing or broadcasting," added Devaney.

'73 Sugar Bowl

Notre Dame 24, Alabama 23 December 31, 1973

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA—It was to be a dream game. Two undefeated, highly-ranked teams with long and storied gridiron traditions were set to battle for the national championship. It was billed as a classic confrontation—the game of the century.

The prognosticators' predictions rang true as the 1973 Sugar Bowl saw Notre Dame emerge a 24-23 winner over Alabama in a thriller that saw the lead change hands six times.

Bob Thomas, who had missed two attempts earlier in the game, kicked a 19-yard field goal with 4:26 remaining to give the Fighting Irish and coach Ara Parseghian the one-point upset over top-rated Alabama. The win also clinched the national championship for Notre Dame which finished the season at 11-0.

The record crowd of 85,161 was treated to a pulsating battle that went to the wire. With three minutes to play, Alabama's punting specialist, Greg Gantt, booted a 69-yard punt that backed up the Irish to their own one-yard line. However, Gantt was fouled on the play and Alabama was entitled to keep the ball with fourth down and five yards to go.

But Alabama's Paul "Bear" Bryant elected to decline the penalty, hoping his defense could force an Irish turnover deep in their own territory. Moments later, Notre Dame quarterback Tom Clements rifled a pass to tight end Robin Weber at the 38 and secured the national championship.

The Irish opened the contest with a superb defensive effort that held the Tide without a yard gained in the first period. Led by Clements, who shot passes of 19, 26 and 14 yards to split end Pete Demmerle, the Irish offense drew first blood in the opening period. Fullback Wayne Bullock capped a 64-yard scoring drive with a six-yard gallop into the end zone.

Alabama's thoroughbred backs made it out of the starting gate in the second period. They produced three long drives that resulted in a pair of touchdowns—the first coming with 7:30 remaining. Randy Billingsley scored on a six-yard run and Bill Davis added the extra point that put Alabama up by one at 7-6.

On their ensuing kickoff, Notre Dame's Al Hunter stunned the crowd with his dazzling 93-yard return, the longest in Sugar Bowl history. The Irish went for two and converted as Clements hit Demmerle in the end zone for a 14-7 Notre Dame lead.

Alabama moved deep into Notre Dame territory late in the second quarter, but had to settle for a 39-yard field goal by Davis.

At the start of the second half, Alabama marched 93 yards and took the lead on Wilbur Jackson's five-yard scoring plunge. Again Notre Dame charged back, but a 54-yard field goal try by Thomas fell by the wayside.

Notre Dame excited the crowd again when linebacker Drew Mahalic recovered a Tide fumble in mid-air and took the ball to the Alabama 12-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Eric Penick dashed 12 yards for the score. Thomas' kick gave the Irish a 21-17 lead.

Early in the fourth period, the game took a zany turn with three turnovers in 90 seconds. Alabama took charge and put in its own version of the razzle-dazzle. With the ball on the Notre Dame 25, second-string quarterback Richard Todd handed off to halfback Mike Stock, then raced to the sidelines where he took a return pass from Stock and went in for the score. But Davis missed the conversion try and Bryant's Tide, which hadn't won a bowl game in its last four appearances, hung on to a slim two-point advantage.

Notre Dame then marched 79 yards in 11 plays. Strong runs by Hunter, Penick and Clements and a 30-yard pass from Clements to Dave Casper carried the drive to the Alabama 15-yard line. The Irish got to the three, but couldn't get any closer when the call went to Thomas. This time he didn't miss and the Irish had a 24-23 win.

'75 Orange Bowl

Notre Dame 13, Alabama 11 January 1, 1975

MIAMI, FLORIDA—Alabama and Notre Dame locked horns again.

Although the stakes weren't as high (only Alabama was ranked number one, undefeated and looking for a national championship), the atmosphere was just as electric and frenzied as the 1973 Sugar Bowl. And this game was to be Ara Parseghian's last as head coach at Notre Dame. After 11 successful seasons and two national championships, he was hanging up his coach's playbook.

The Fighting Irish, though decided underdogs with their 9-2 ledger, gave Parseghian a proper going-away present—a 13-11 victory that denied the Tide the national title for the second straight year and gave Alabama and coach Paul "Bear" Bryant its eighth consecutive non-win in bowl competition.

Notre Dame staked itself to a 13-0 lead midway through the opening half and withstood the Tide's offensive thrust until the final gun sounded. The Irish got their first touchdown in the opening period. Alabama fumbled a Tony Brantley punt and Al Samuel recovered the ball at the Tide's 16-yard line.

Three plays later Notre Dame faced a fourth-and-one call at the seven. Wayne Bullock powered his way over the left side for three yards and a crucial first down. On the next play, he slithered into the end zone on a four-yard jaunt for the first Irish score. Dave Reeve added the extra point.

With 50 seconds left in the first quarter, the Notre Dame offense took control at its own 23-yard line and quarterback Tom Clements engineered another scoring drive—this one encompassing 77 yards in 17 plays and taking 7:21 off the clock. The Irish attempted only one pass in the march, a nine-yard completion to Mark McLane. The running game featured McLane and Samuel working the sweeps and Bullock picking up his yardage up the middle.

The drive almost stalled at the Alabama 28-yard line when the Irish faced a fourth-and-four situation. But an offsides call on the Tide on the Irish field-goal attempt gave Notre Dame new life. The Irish made the most of that resurrection, as McLane took a pitchout and ran 12 yards. Two plays later he twisted loose from the Alabama defense and went nine yards for the score. Reeve's kick was off the mark and Notre Dame had to settle for a 13-0 lead.

The Irish fumbled on their next possession and gave the Tide the football on the Notre Dame 40-yard line. Alabama's game plan was to go to the air, and quarterback Richard Todd hit Ozzie Newsome for 11 yards and Jerry Brown for 12 yards to help the Tide move to the Notre Dame eight-yard mark. But the Irish defense dug in, and Alabama could manage only a 21-yard field goal by Danny Ridgeway.

After a scoreless third quarter in which the Irish held Alabama to just three first downs, all by passing, Notre Dame took over at its own eight. The offense, dormant since the second quarter, surged to life. Samuel picked up 20 yards on a pair of sweeps to get the Irish out of the hole. But the Tide stopped a fourth-down try and immediately went to work.

Again, Alabama, which had averaged only 11 passes a game during the season, went to the air. Todd carried the Tide to the Irish 12-yard line but then delivered an interception to John Dubenetzky, who returned the ball 16 yards to the 26.

The Irish couldn't put together a sustained drive and turned the ball over to Alabama with 4:29 left. On fourth down and five yards to go, Todd let loose a 48-yard touchdown pass to Russ Schamun. The Tide added two points on a conversion pass from Todd to George Pugh.

Alabama got the ball back with just under two minutes remaining. Needing only a field goal to avenge the 24-23 loss in the '73 Sugar Bowl, Todd tossed to Schamun for a 16-yard gain and to Randy Billingsley for an eight-yard reception. But Reggie Barnett intercepted Todd's next throw and sealed the verdict in favor of the Irish.

It proved to be a fitting finale for Parseghian, who downplayed the emotional impact of his last game as Irish head coach.

"I told the players before the game that I like to win this last one," he said. "But I told them they didn't owe me anything. They owed it to themselves, and they won it that way. We won as a team and we lost as a team. That's the way I told them to look at the game."

Ara Parseghian went out a winner. Notre Dame wouldn't have had it any other way.

'76 Gator Bowl

Notre Dame 20, Penn State 9 December 27, 1976

JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA—Al Hunter ignited the Notre Dame offense and tallied a pair of first-half touchdowns to spark the Fighting Irish to a 20-9 win over Penn State in the Gator Bowl before a crowd of 67,827.

Hunter, who became the first Notre Dame back to rush for more than 1,000 yards in a single season, scored in each of the initial two periods.

After the Nittany Lions jumped out to a short-lived 3-0 lead on Tony Capozzoli's 26-yard field goal, Terry Eurick helped the Irish effort with a kickoff return of 65 yards. Hunter put together runs of six and nine yards before crossing the goal line on a one-yard dive. Dave Reeve added the extra point and the Irish were ahead for good.

In the second quarter Jim Browner recovered a Penn State fumble at the Nittany Lion 23-yard line. Six plays later, including a 12-yard pass from quarterback Rick Slager to Dan Kelleher, Reeve added three points to the Notre Dame total with a 23-yard field goal.

Notre Dame's offense continued its surge with another touchdown by Hunter. This time the Irish covered 51 yards in 10 plays. Slager tossed a pair of 12-yard passes to tight end Ken MacAfee and a 13-yarder to Hunter to move the Irish downfield. Hunter contributed an 11-yard gallop before scoring on a one-yard run. Reeve's kick made it Notre Dame 17, Penn State 3.

With only two seconds remaining on the clock before halftime, the Irish boosted their lead to 20-3 on another 23-yard field goal by Reeve. That Irish drive was helped by a punt interference call against Penn State, one of six penalties assessed against the Nittany Lions during the game.

Led by linebackers Bob Golic, Doug Becker and Steve Heimkreiter and strong safety Jim Browner, the Irish defense clamped down on Penn State's usually proficient offense. Notre Dame never allowed the Lions beyond their own 32 in the first half after their initial possession.

And despite good yardage totals in the second half, Penn State was unable to score a touchdown until Bruce Clark blocked a punt deep in Notre Dame territory with 9:14 left in the game. Quarterback Chuck Fusina tossed an eight-yard pass to Matt Suhey on the second play from scrimmage for the score. The Nittany Lions' two-point conversion attempt failed.

Penn State edged the Irish in total offense by one yard—gaining 274 yards to 273 for Notre Dame. The Nittany Lions gained 156 yards on the ground compared to the Irish total of 132. But 15th-ranked Notre Dame edged the Lions 141-118 in the passing department.

Hunter was the leading rusher in the game, gaining 102 yards on 26 carries. Bob Torrey paced the Nittany Lions with 63 yards in 12 tries. Suhey added 40.

Slager completed 10 of 19 passes for 141 yards, while Fusina was successful on 14 of 33 attempts. He also threw two interceptions.

MacAfee headed the Irish receiving corps with five catches for 78 yards. Kelleher hauled in three receptions for 46 yards.

The victory, Notre Dame's third consecutive win in postseason competition, gave coach Dan Devine a 9-3 record for the 1975 campaign, his second season with the Irish. Penn State, under the direction of coach Joe Paterno, fell to 7-5.

Notre Dame 38, Texas 10 January 2, 1978

DALLAS, TEXAS—And then there were none. Not one unbeaten football team in major college football remained.

Dan Devine's Fighting Irish of Notre Dame took care of the last one, using an unrelenting defense to force six Texas turnovers and an opportunistic offense which capitalized on five of them to rout the previously-unbeaten Longhorns 38-10 in the Cotton Bowl and claim the national championship for themselves.

The victory elevated Notre Dame into the top spot in both the AP and UPI final polls. Meanwhile, Texas—which had held the number-one ranking in both polls coming into the game—slipped to fourth in AP and fifth in UPI.

The Irish were devastating, particularly in the trenches where the Irish defensive line threw a lasso around Texas Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell. Though Campbell did gain 116 yards on 29 carries they were all tough yards. His longest run from scrimmage was only 18 yards late in the second quarter.

The Irish also forced the Longhorns into six turnovers, three fumbles and three interceptions, and took advantage of what Texas gave them with an offensive line performance which was awesome.

Backs Jerome Heavens and Vagas Ferguson gained 102 and 100 yards, respectively, by going where the Longhorns weren't. Ferguson, who also scored three touchdowns, won the outstanding offensive player honor.

Defensively, the top honor went to Irish middle linebacker Bob Golic, who made 17 tackles and blocked a field-goal attempt by Russell Erxleben.

After the teams had traded field goals in the first quarter—Notre Dame's Dave Reeve hit a 47-yarder (after a Texas fumble) before Erxleben connected on a 42-yarder into a 12 mph wind—Golic and teammates Mike Calhoun and Doug Becker forced a Ham Jones fumble on a screen pass from Randy McEachern and Jim Browner recovered at the Longhorn 27.

Senior captain Terry Eurick scored on the fifth play after that turnover to give the Irish a 10-3 lead on the first play of the second quarter.

Defensive tackle Ken Dike then got into the act on Texas' next possession, stripping a scrambling McEachern of the ball which Willie Fry recovered at the Longhorn 35.

Five plays later, Eurick scampered in from the 10 for a 17-3 lead.

An interception by linebacker Becker set up Notre Dame's third touchdown of the period, a 17-yard pass from Joe Montana to Ferguson.

But the Longhorns threw a scare into the Irish late in the quarter when McEachern directed a 68-yard, six-play drive in just 22 seconds to score. The touchdown came on a 13-yard aerial from McEachern to Mike Lockett after Irish safety Jim Browner had been called for interference on the last play of the first half.

The Irish regained the lost momentum when linebacker Steve Heimkreiter intercepted a McEachern pass midway through the third quarter. Ferguson went the final three yards on the 29-yard drive off left tackle to score, making it 31-10.

The loss ended a storybook season for first-year coach Fred Akers whose Longhorns had won 11 straight games. Notre Dame survived an early loss to Mississippi to finish 11-1 with 10 straight victories.

'79 Cotton Bowl

Notre Dame 35, Houston 34 January 1, 1979

DALLAS, TEXAS—Notre Dame utilized a miracle rally beginning midway through the fourth period to shock Houston 35-34 and capture the 43rd and coldest Cotton Bowl. It featured a comeback that many longtime observers called the greatest in Irish football history.

Quarterback Joe Montana, who missed most of the third quarter because of below-normal body temperature, captained an Irish rescue mission which saw the Gold-and-Green put 23 points on the board in the final seven minutes and 37 seconds, erasing a 34-12 Cougar lead in the process.

What happened in the last 7:37 was mind-boggling. For starters, the tide turned when freshman reserve fullback Tony Belden blocked a Jay Wyatt punt and classmate Steve Cichy picked it up in a crowd and rambled 33 yards for an Irish score. Notre Dame, electing to go for two, narrowed the deficit to 34-20 when Montana connected with tailback Vagas Ferguson in the end zone.

After his team had forced another Wyatt punt, Montana shifted into overdrive when the Irish regained possession at their own 39-yard line with 5:40 remaining on the clock.

On three straight plays the senior signalcaller connected with freshman tight end Dean Masztak, fullback Jerome Heavens and flanker Pete Holohan for respective gains of 17, 30 and 11 (the last one on pass interference) yards. Two plays later Montana swept left end for two yards and a touchdown. Two points were once again a must for the Irish, who brought the score to 34-28 with a Montana-to-Haines completion.

The once dumbfounded Notre Dame legions suddenly had reason to cheer. Their Irish were rolling, or so it seemed, until all momentum seemed gone with 2:05 left in the game. It was then when Montana fumbled after a 16-yard run to the Houston 20 and Cougar Tommy Ebner recovered.

The Irish defense stiffened, and with a fourth-and-one from the Cougar 29 and 35 seconds left, Yeoman overruled a possible punt to go for the first down that would seal a win for the Southwest Conference champions. But Notre Dame held on a great stop by freshman Joe Gramke and the Irish took over with 28 ticks of the clock left, just 29 yards short of paydirt.

Montana, who needed a dose of chicken soup to help erase his hypothermic condition, started the last-ditch Irish effort by running for 11 yards and then throwing to Kris Haines for a gain of 10.

On the next play Montana, the same Montana who had earlier thrown four interceptions, wasted little time getting rid of the ball, tossing it quickly to the right corner of the end zone and in the direction of Haines. The pass was incomplete, but Montana's quickness in releasing stopped the clock with two seconds remaining and gave the Irish one last chance.

Montana, calling for the same play twice in a row, then proceeded to hit Haines with the tying touchdown pass.

Joe Unis, a Dallas native, came on to kick the extra point. An illegal procedure penalty nullified the winning point, so Unis had to do it all over. He did, and the miracle was history.

'81 Sugar Bowl

Georgia 17, Notre Dame 10 January 1, 1981

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA—The day before Georgia met Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl, Vince Dooley was hoping his football players would spend New Year's Eve night "in their hotel rooms, watching whatever it is they drop in New York, that ball or whatever."

By the time the two teams had played out Georgia's 17-10 win over Notre Dame in the 47th Sugar Bowl, Georgia had watched and claimed everything that fell from the heavens of the Superdome, including its first national championship.

The Bulldogs capitalized on two critical Notre Dame mistakes in the first half for touchdown drives of one and 22 yards, then fought back repeated Notre Dame threats in the second half giving 12-0 Georgia its first unbeaten season since 1946.

After seventh-ranked Notre Dame took a 3-0 lead on the game's first possession, the Irish drove to the Georgia 31 the next time they had the ball. But freshman Terry Hoage shot through the middle to block Harry Oliver's 48-yard field goal attempt. The play did two things. It led to Georgia's first score and warned Notre Dame of the strange perils that lay ahead.

The game's most valuable player, Herschel Walker, ran the ball six times to the Notre Dame 19 before the drive stopped and Rex Robinson kicked a 46-yard field goal to make it 3-3.

Robinson kicked off and drove the ball high and deep. Notre Dame deep backs Jim Stone and Ty Barber drifted away from the ball before it hit near the goal and began bouncing laterally. Stone had called for Barber to take the kick, but the crowd noise drowned out the call. Stone went after the ball but Georgia's Bob Kelly recovered at the one. Two plays later Walker dove over from the one and Georgia was ahead to stay 10-3.

If the 59-yard onsides kick hadn't done enough damage, Notre Dame gave Georgia the eventual game-winning score in the first minute of the second quarter.

Notre Dame fullback John Sweeney's only carry of the game ended in a fumble when he was hit by linebacker Frank Ros at the Notre Dame 20. Chris Welton recovered for Georgia at the 22, the first of four Notre Dame turnovers.

Walker ran off right tackle for 12 yards and quarterback Buck Belue scrambled for seven more to the three. Walker took it over from there, scooting around right end untouched. Georgia had only three first downs and a 17-3 lead.

After Georgia went ahead on Walker's run, Notre Dame drove to the Bulldog 13 but again came away frustrated. Quarterback Mike Courey's lob pass for Pete Holohan was intercepted by Scott Woerner in the end zone. Midway through the third period the game's next serious threat developed when Notre Dame again drove to the Georgia 13. It was stopped when Woerner tipped away a Blair Kiel pass to Holohan in the end zone.

If Georgia's special teams ignited the win, the Bulldog defense fanned the flames in the second half. Belue went almost 58 minutes of the game without a completion and finished one-for-12. Walker, who gained 95 yards on 17 first-half carries managed only 55 on 19 second-half attempts.

As the third period wore on, Notre Dame's size began taking its toll on the smaller Bulldogs. Hanging in became an obvious chore.

With five minutes remaining in the third period Kiel—who quarterbacked the entire second half after Courey broke his right hand just before halftime—drove Notre Dame 57 methodical yards in 10 impressive plays. Phil Carter scored from one yard out and Oliver's kick made it 17-10 with :54 left in the third period.

On its next possession Notre Dame drove from its 46 to the Georgia 27 in five quick plays. But just when it appeared the Irish had the Bulldogs on the ropes, Woerner made another big play. On third and three at the Bulldog 20, the Georgia safety sliced through and dropped Phil Carter for a one-yard loss. Oliver—who had a one-for-four day on field goals—missed a 38-yard attempt.

Georgia defensive coordinator Erk Russell watched the mounting Irish momentum with a degree of concern. Notre Dame's domination—the Irish outgained Georgia 328 yards to 127 and had a 78-65 edge in plays—appeared to be mounting with each possession.

With nine minutes remaining Georgia had an opportunity to put Notre Dame out of reach of a one-touchdown comeback. Kiel's deep sideline pass from Hunter was intercepted by Mike Fisher at the Notre Dame 37. An incomplete long pass and two running plays by Walker gained six yards. Robinson pushed his 48-yard field goal wide to the right.

Notre Dame had its final gasp with five minutes left. But on fourth and one at the Georgia 48, Kiel's pass for Dean Masztak was intercepted by Woerner.

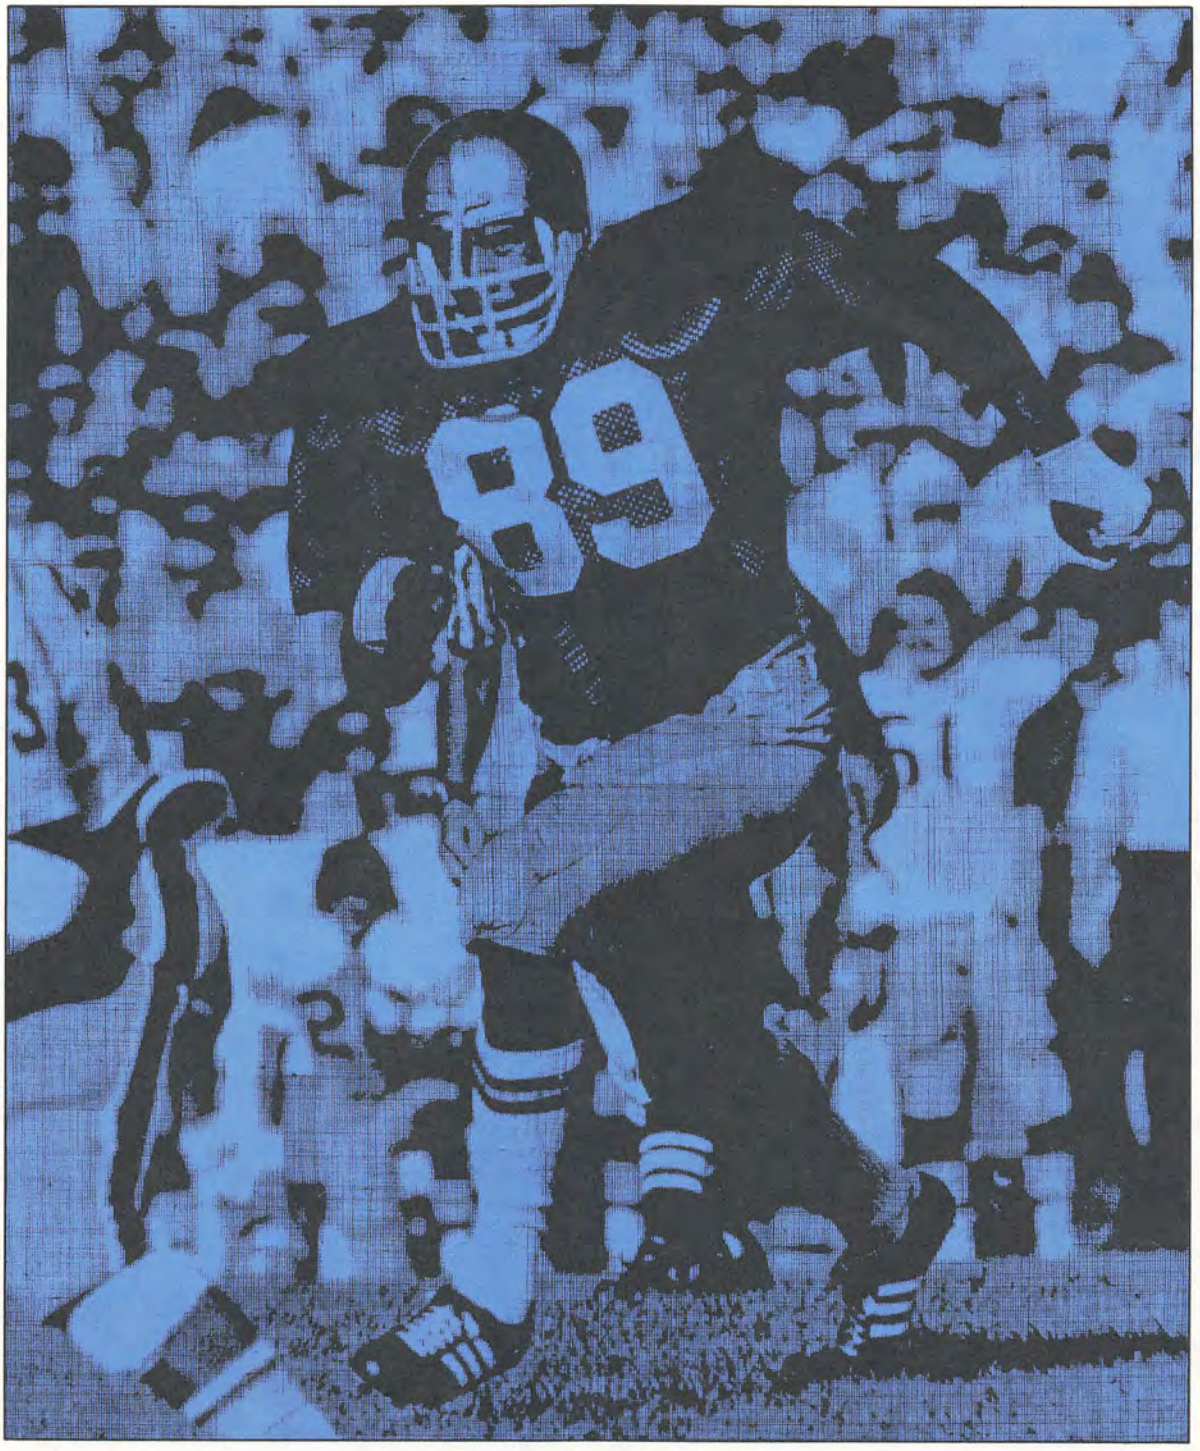
Notre Dame quarterback Joe Theismann looks for an opening against unbeaten Texas in the 1970 Cotton Bowl in Dallas. Theismann holds or shares 13 different Irish single-game or career bowl records.

The Award Winners



All-Americans

Ever since quarterback Gus Dorais became Notre Dame's initial first-team All-America pick in 1913, Irish players have been honored as first-team All-America selections on 143 occasions. Recognition on at least one All-America second team has been received by Notre Dame players on 48 other occasions.

The NCAA recognizes members of a consensus All-America team each season—with 79 of those selections having worn a Notre Dame uniform. Notre Dame has had 68 different players earn the consensus designation, and only Yale—with 69—has had more. However, Yale has not had a consensus choice since 1944, while Notre Dame has had 44 picks during that period. Notre Dame is the only team in the country to produce at least one consensus All-American each of the last 18 seasons.

The NCAA also recognizes first-team All-Americans chosen on a unanimous basis. Notre Dame has had 23 unanimous choices, more than any other university. USC is second with 18 picks.

Hall of Fame

The National Football Foundation each year honors former college football players and coaches who rank among the greats in the game and inducts them into its Hall of Fame.

Since inductions began in 1951, 23 former Notre Dame players and four former coaches have been honored as Hall of Fame enshrinees.

In addition, Charlie Bachman, who played for Notre Dame in the 1914-16 period, also was inducted in 1978 as a coach for his performance at Great Lakes, Northwestern, Kansas State, Florida, Michigan State and Hillsdale.

Heisman Trophy

The John W. Heisman Memorial Trophy Award is presented each year to the outstanding college football player by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York.

First known as the D.A.C. Trophy, the award was renamed in 1936 for John W. Heisman, the first athletic director of the Downtown Athletic Club, a football player at Penn and Brown—and a coach for 36 years including tours of duty at Auburn, Oberlin, Clemson, Akron, Penn, Rice, Washington and Jefferson and Georgia Tech.

The bronze trophy was sculpted by Frank Eliscu, with the help of Notre Dame Four Horseman Jim Crowley—whose Fordham players posed as models.

Since the inception of the Heisman Trophy in 1935, six Notre Dame players have won the award—more than any other university:

1943.....QB Angelo Bertelli
1947.....QB John Lujack
1949.....E Leon Hart
1953.....HB John Lattner
1956.....QB Paul Hornung
1964.....QB John Huarte

Notre Dame has had a player finish among the top 10 in the Heisman voting in 28 of the 47 years the award has been presented. In addition to the six winners, Notre Dame has had two players finish second (Bertelli in '41, Joe Theismann in '70), five finish third (Bill Shakespeare in '35, Lujack in '46, Nick Eddy in '66, Terry Hanratty in '68, Ken MacAfee in '77), three finish fourth (Creighton Miller in '43, Ralph Guglielmi in '54, Tom Clements in '74) and six finish fifth (Bob Williams in '49, Lattner in '52, Hornung in '55, Jack Snow in '64, Ross Browner in '77, Vagas Ferguson in '79).

Chevrolet Scholarships

The Chevrolet Scholarship Fund honors players of the game for each team on each of its regional and national NCAA football telecasts on ABC-TV.

Since the inauguration of the program in 1971, the University of Notre Dame general scholarship fund has received a total of $32,000 in scholarships to be awarded in the name of the honored Irish players. Beginning in 1971 outstanding players on both offense and defense were chosen, regardless of their team. Starting with the 1979 season, an outstanding player from each of the two competing teams has been picked.

With its 11 scholar-athletes, Notre Dame has had more honorees than any other university. Ohio State, Army, Air Force and Georgia are next with seven each.

The Four Horsemen

None of the four stood taller than six feet. And none weighed more than 162 pounds. But thanks to the help of a New York Times sportswriter and a student publicity director they became the most-fabled quartet in college football history.

Harry Stuhldreher played quarterback, Elmer Layden lined up at fullback and Don Miller and Jim Crowley handled the halfback positions. While leading Knute Rockne's 1924 Notre Dame team to a perfect 9-0 regular-season ledger and a Rose Bowl victory over Stanford, they first became known as the Four Horsemen.

Grantland Rice, a writer for the New York Times, came up with the most-quoted passage in college football annals in his game story following Notre Dame's 13-7 victory over Army on October 18, 1924:

"Outlined against a blue, gray October sky the Four Horsemen rode again.

"In dramatic lore they are known as famine, pestilence, destruction and death. These are only aliases. Their real names are: Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden. They formed the crest of the South Bend cyclone before which another fighting Army team was swept over the precipice at the Polo Grounds this afternoon as 55,000 spectators peered down upon the bewildering panorama spread out upon the green plain below."

George Strickler, then Rockne's student publicity aide and later sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, made sure the name stuck. The next week in practice he posed the four players on the backs of four plow horses from the Notre Dame farm. The wire services picked up the now-famous photo, and the legendary status of the Four Horsemen was insured.

Stuhldreher, a 5-7, 151-pounder from Massillon, Ohio, was a natural leader who not only could throw accurately but also returned punts and proved a solid blocker. Layden, a 6-0, 162-pounder from Davenport, Iowa, had 10-second speed in the 100-yard dash, became the Irish defensive star with his timely interceptions and also excelled as a punter.

Crowley, a 5-11, 162-pounder from Green Bay, Wis., was known as "Sleepy Jim" for his drowsy-eyed appearance, but his shifty ballcarrying allowed him to outmaneuver many a defender. Miller, a 5-11, 160-pounder from Defiance, Ohio, turned out to be the greatest open-field runner ever to play for Rockne, according to his coach.

All four players eventually were elected to the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame—Layden in 1951, Stuhldreher in 1958, Crowley (the only one of the four still alive) in 1966 and Miller in 1970.

George Gipp

He came from Laurium, Mich., with plans to play baseball at Notre Dame. And he died an untimely death at the age of 25 because of an incurable streptococcic throat infection.

But, from the time he first arrived in South Bend in 1916 until his senior season of 1920 when he helped the Irish complete an unbeaten season just a few weeks prior to his death—George Gipp's performances on the football field made him not only the most famous, but also quite probably the most talented all-around player in Notre Dame history.

Knute Rockne enticed Gipp to come out for football after watching him consistently drop-kick the ball more than 50 yards. The future All-American went on to prove to Rockne and the rest of the college football world that he could run, pass and punt just as proficiently.

Still holder of a handful of Notre Dame records in a variety of categories, Gipp led the Irish in rushing and passing each of his last three seasons. His career mark of 2,341 rushing yards lasted more than 50 years until Jerome Heavens broke it in 1978. Walter Camp named him the outstanding college player in America in 1920, and he was voted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1951.

Gipp contracted the strep throat while helping the Irish defeat Northwestern late in his senior season. Three weeks later, on December 14, 1920, he was dead.

While on his deathbed, Gipp made this often-repeated plea to his head coach:

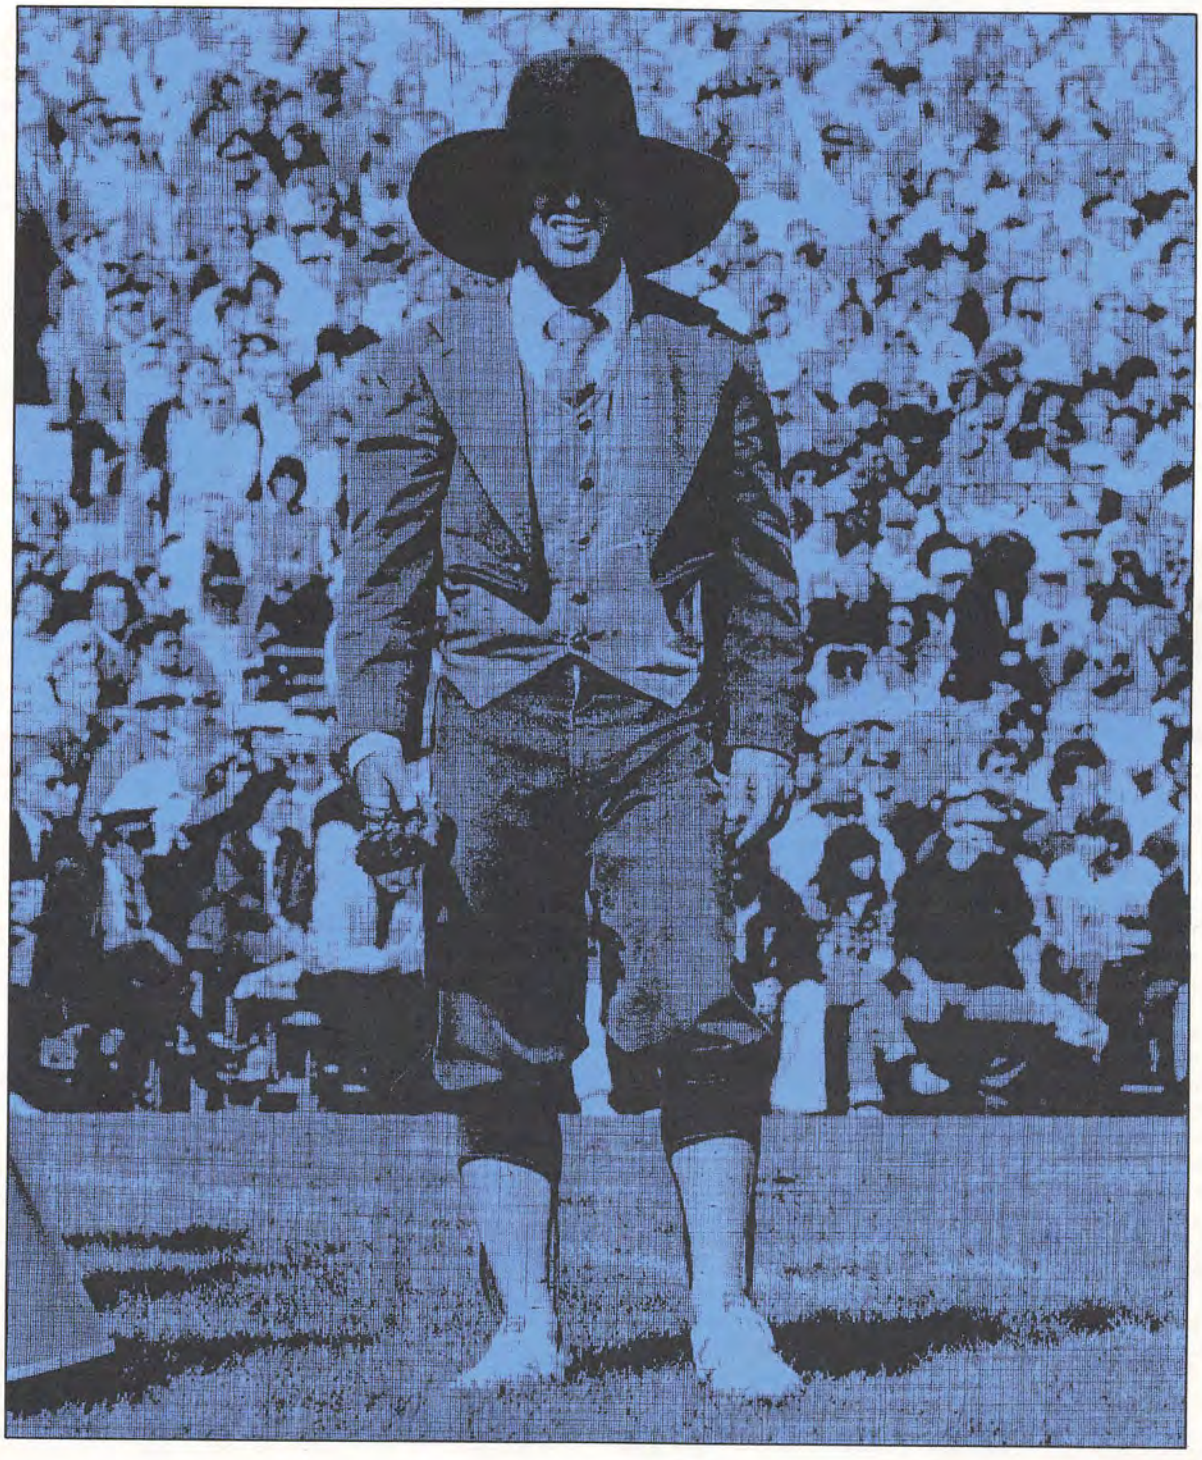
"I've got to go, Rock. It's all right. I'm not afraid. Some time, Rock, when the team's up against it, when things are wrong and the breaks are beating the boys—tell them to go in there with all they've got and win just one for the Gipper. I don't know where I'll be then, Rock. But I'll know about it, and I'll be happy."

Rockne waited eight years to utilize Gipp's parting request. On November 10, 1928, after losing two of its first four games, an injury-riddled Notre Dame team traveled to Yankee Stadium to face unbeaten Army. According to Francis Wallace of the New York News, Rockne made this pregame speech to his underdog Irish:

"The day before he died, George Gipp asked me to wait until the situation seemed hopeless—and then ask a Notre Dame team to go out and beat Army for him. This is the day and you are the team."

Notre Dame won the game 12-6 on a pair of second-half touchdowns. Jack Chevigny scored the first on a one-yard run and, after reaching the end zone, said, "That's one for the Gipper." Football experts who witnessed it said the game was the greatest demonstration of inspired football ever played anywhere.

The Irish Items



Notre Dame Stadium

A myriad of college football legends—including six Notre Dame Heisman Trophy winners and dozens more legendary players and coaches on both sides of the field—have appeared in the Notre Dame Stadium that officially celebrated its 50th season of use in 1979.

The Fighting Irish first played their games on Cartier Field, located behind the Athletic and Convocation Center and still utilized as part of Notre Dame's football practice complex. But as the University's national football reputation expanded thanks to the coaching success of Knute Rockne, the need for a new home for the Irish was voiced since no more than 30,000 fans could squeeze into the Cartier facility.

Architectural blueprints and bids were received from prominent contractors throughout the nation once plans became more specific by 1929. The Osborn Engineering Company, which had designed more than 50 stadia in the country—including Comiskey Park in Chicago, Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds in New York City, and facilities at Michigan, Indiana, Purdue and Minnesota—was awarded the contract and excavation began that summer.

Actual labor on the foundations of the Stadium did not commence until April, 1930, but four months later Notre Dame Stadium opened its 18 gates and assumed its place as a campus landmark. Five hundred construction workers, who required a ton of food each day to furnish energy for their labors, actually built the Stadium.

The Stadium measures a half-mile in circumference, stands 45 feet high and features a glass-enclosed press box rising 60 feet above ground level and originally accommodating 264 writers plus facilities for photographers and radio and television broadcasters. There are more than 2,000,000 bricks in the edifice which, if laid end to end, would reach from Notre Dame to the Cleveland, Ohio, waterfront 300 miles away.

If the 400 tons of steel used in its construction were converted into bullets, each weighing two ounces, the total production would be almost 6,500,000 bullets. If these were fed steadily into a machine gun shooting 100 per minute, the trigger would remain depressed for 44 days and 10 hours before exhausting the supply.

The 15,000 cubic yards of concrete, if made into a tower 10 feet square, would reach a height of more than four times that of the John Hancock Building in Chicago. The total cost of construction exceeded $750,000, and architecturally the Notre Dame Stadium was patterned, on a smaller scale, after the University of Michigan's mammoth stadium.

Though Rockne had a chance to coach in the new facility only in its initial season of use, he took a personal hand in its design. The sod from Cartier Field was transplanted into the new Stadium, but Rockne insisted on its use for football only. He kept the area between the field and the stands small to keep sideline guests, as he called them, to a minimum—and he personally supervised the parking and traffic system that basically is the same one in use today.

With a crowd on hand far less than the 54,000 capacity—the Irish opened the facility by defeating Southern Methodist 20-14 on October 4, 1930. Official dedication ceremonies came a week later against traditional foe Navy. This time, more than 40,000 fans cheered a 26-2 triumph over the Midshipmen. Frank E. Hering, captain of the 1898 team and the first Notre Dame coach as well as president of the Alumni Association, delivered the major speech during the ceremonies.

It took another year before the Irish played before their first capacity crowd (50,731 for the '31 Southern Cal game), but full houses and Notre Dame victories have been the rule rather than the exception. Since that 1930 opening, the Irish have compiled an impressive 190-50-4 (.787) mark in Notre Dame Stadium, while an average of 50,140 spectators have watched.

During 21 of those seasons the Irish did not lose a home game. Beginning with a 27-20 victory over Northwestern on November 21, 1942, and ending with a 28-14 loss to Purdue on October 7, 1950—Notre Dame won 28 consecutive games in Notre Dame Stadium.

Notre Dame's largest crowd ever to witness a game in the Stadium was 61,296 in a 24-6 loss to Purdue on October 6, 1962. However, attendance figures since 1966 have been based on paid admissions, rather than total in the house, thus accounting for the familiar 59,075 figure every week. Since that 1966 season every Irish home game, with the exception of a Thanksgiving Day matchup with Air Force in 1973, has been a sellout.

Navy again was the opponent in 1979 when Notre Dame celebrated the 50th season of service of Notre Dame Stadium. This time the Irish prevailed 14-0 in a game that featured commemorative edition tickets which were authentic reproductions of those used for the 1930 dedication game.

Heading into the 1982 season, Notre Dame has played in front of capacity home crowds in Notre Dame Stadium in 44 straight games and in 92 of 93 games dating back to the middle of the 1964 season. The only non-capacity crowd during that period was one of 57,236 that saw Notre Dame defeat Air Force on November 22, 1973. That game was played on Thanksgiving Day and had been changed to accommodate national television.

Since the opening of Notre Dame Stadium in 1930, 155 of the 244 games played there have been viewed by capacity crowds for a .635 percentage. On the road the Irish have played before 151 capacity crowds among the 279 games (.541). The total .585 percentage includes 306 capacity crowds of 523 games.

Wire Service Polls

Notre Dame has won more national championships than any other team in the country since the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters began certifying the winner of the national crown.

The Irish have won seven titles (1943-46-47-49-66-73-77) since the first AP rankings in 1937—with Oklahoma and Alabama second on the list with five national titles each.

The United Press International poll of coaches has voted a national champion since 1950. Notre Dame has won three titles (1966-73-77) during that period. Only USC with five and Alabama and Oklahoma with four each have won more. The UPI poll was taken following the end of the regular season each year until the 1974 season when the coaches first waited until the bowl games were concluded to issue their final rankings.

The Football Writers Association of America has recognized a national champion since 1954 in presenting the Grantland Rice Award. Notre Dame earned that trophy in 1966, '73 and '77.

The National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame presents the MacArthur Bowl each year to its national champion. Since the inception of the award in 1959, Notre Dame has won it on four occasions—1964, '66 (tied with Michigan State), '73 and '77.

Mutual Network

Notre Dame and the Mutual Broadcasting System mark their 15th consecutive season as a national broadcast team in 1982. With approximately 350 stations throughout the country, Notre Dame football covers virtually every corner of the nation. Many Fighting Irish games also can be heard on the Armed Forces Radio Network overseas.

Veteran announcers Tony Roberts and Al Wester will handle the broadcasting chores—with Roberts serving as play-by-play specialist and Wester providing expert analysis.

A native of Chicago, Ill., Roberts has been a familiar name to Mutual listeners while serving as play-by-play announcer for Notre Dame basketball, National Football League Sunday afternoon games and National Basketball Association playoff contests.

A perennial choice as Washington, D.C., Sportscaster of the Year, Roberts boasts a long list of radio credits. He previously has served as the voice of Indiana University football and basketball, Navy football, Washington Senators baseball and Washington Bullets basketball.

Aside from his schedule of play-by-play events, Roberts also broadcasts daily sports shows for Mutual and anchored the network's coverage of the 1980 Olympics from Lake Placid, N.Y.

Wester is in his third season as color analyst following three seasons as the play-by-play voice of the Fighting Irish. He has been a sportscaster with Mutual since 1948 and now is in his second decade of covering Notre Dame football.

Tony Roberts

Al Wester

A native Texan, Wester now lives in New Orleans and has handled a variety of assignments for Mutual, including a lengthy list of major golf tournaments, horse races, Indianapolis 500 races and numerous college and pro football contests, many of them post-season or bowl games.

Metrosports Network

Metrosports, a division of Metro Communications, Inc., of Rockville, Md., will produce a two-hour delayed telecast package of Notre Dame football games for the third straight season—making Irish games available via either broadcast or cable to nearly every major market in the nation. The Notre Dame contests also will be shown on a delayed basis by ESPN and its more than 3,600 affiliates.

Harry Kalas will do the play by play and George Connor will provide the color commentary for the Notre Dame games, which will be shown on a delayed basis for the 19th straight season.

A native of Chicago, Kalas is in his 13th season as a member of the Philadelphia Phillies broadcast team. In addition to handling play by play for Metrosports' Notre Dame basketball broadcasts, Kalas has been involved in numerous Big 5 basketball telecasts, as well as narrating nationally-syndicated This is the NFL and NFL Game of the Week programs for four years.

Previously a six-year veteran of the Houston Astros broadcasts, Kalas also has done play by play for the Southwest Conference basketball game of the week, University of Houston football, University of Hawaii football and basketball and the Hawaiian Islanders of the Pacific Coast League.

Captain of the Irish 1946 and 1947 national championship teams, Connor received All-America honors both seasons as a Notre Dame offensive tackle. The Chicago native earned the first Outland Trophy in 1946—then went on to star with the Chicago Bears for eight seasons. An all-pro choice on six occasions, Connor has been named to both the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame and the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Harry Kalas

George Connor

Now head of the Connor Container Corporation in Elmhurst, Ill., Connor spent two seasons as a Bears assistant coach following his retirement as a player. He served many years as a color commentator on the Bears' CBS telecasts.

Streak Breakers

Notre Dame 0, Army 0

November 9, 1946.....Yankee Stadium

The Irish snapped the Cadets' 25-game victory string with this tie before 74,000 fans at Yankee Stadium in New York. Notre Dame defenders were the heroes this day as they successfully contained Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis. Both teams barely eclipsed the 200-yard mark in total offense.The Irish avenged 59-0 and 48-0 defeats to Army the previous two years.

Notre Dame 27, Georgia Tech 14

October 24, 1953.....Notre Dame Stadium

Heisman Trophy winner John Lattner got the Irish off to an auspicious beginning by advancing the opening kickoff 80 yards to set up Notre Dame's first score. The victory ended Georgia Tech's 31-game unbeaten streak, then the longest current streak in college football.

Notre Dame 7, Oklahoma 0

November 16, 1957.....Owen Field

Notre Dame halfback Dick Lynch scored the only touchdown of the day as the Irish ended the Sooners' 47-game winning streak, still the longest in college football history. The Irish had been the last team to defeat Oklahoma before that contest, as they had been victorious on September 26, 1953, by a 28-21 count.

Notre Dame 24, Texas 11

January 1, 1971.....Cotton Bowl

Joe Theismann paced the Irish to victory in the Cotton Bowl that ended the Longhorns' 30-game winning streak. Theismann accounted for three scores on the ground and in the air in the first half to give Notre Dame a 24-11 lead at halftime. The Irish defense, led by Walt Patulski and Mike Kadish, shut out the potent Texas offense in the second half and forced five fumbles.

Notre Dame 23, USC 14

October 27, 1973.....Notre Dame Stadium

Eric Penick's 85-yard burst early in the third quarter keyed Notre Dame's triumph that ended the Trojans' 23-game unbeaten string. This victory in Notre Dame Stadium was the pivotal triumph in Notre Dame's 1973 National Championship season.

Media Notes

Press Credentials

All requests for working press, photo and broadcast credentials for Notre Dame's 1982 home football games should be made in writing on company letterhead at least two weeks prior to the game in question. Direct all requests to Roger Valdiserri, Assistant Athletic Director, University of Notre Dame, Athletic and Convocation Center, Notre Dame, IN 46556. All credentials which cannot be mailed are left at the Gate 14 press will-call window on the west side of Notre Dame Stadium.

Because of the demand for credentials and the limited space available, media agencies covering the visiting school on a regular basis receive top priority. All other credentials for print media are issued on the basis of circulation. Only local radio stations with a full-time sports director conducting a daily sports show receive consideration for credentials. Non-originating, out-of-town radio stations cannot be accommodated.

Radio, TV

The radio rights to Notre Dame football games are owned by the Mutual Broadcasting System. Visiting stations planning to originate from Notre Dame Stadium are issued credentials by Roger Valdiserri following the return of signed contracts granting approval for the broadcast. Broadcast lines should be ordered through Indiana Bell in Indianapolis (317-265-7613).

The delayed television rights to Notre Dame football games are owned by METROSPORTS. Live telecasts of games not shown by ABC or CBS are handled by WNDU-TV in South Bend. Visiting stations should coordinate any and all television plans through Roger Valdiserri. Television stations planning coverage for news broadcasts are issued credentials following the return of signed contracts granting any filming and/or videotaping. No cameras are permitted on the sidelines during the game other than those shooting for official production agencies of the participating schools, networks owning rights to the game or other production agencies under contract with the University of Notre Dame.

Photographers

Credentials for sideline photographers will be issued on the basis of circulation, with priority granted to agencies covering the participating schools on a regular basis.

All photographers must pick up armbands necessary for admittance to the sideline area at the Gate 14 press will-call window on the west side of Notre Dame Stadium. Flip cards and game programs also will be available for photographers at that time. Photographers are not permitted inside the 30-yard lines and must remain outside the restraining lines surrounding the field.

Telephones

The Notre Dame Stadium press box includes both computer and facsimile transmission services for writers. Prior arrangements should be made through Telesports in Chicago (312-280-8738). One spare telecopier staffed by the Notre Dame Sports Information Department also is available for emergency use.

An adequate number of telephones are available in the press box for general use by visiting writers. Credential requests should indicate interest in the use of these phones—with all coordination handled by Roger Valdiserri. Personal phones can be ordered at individual seats by contacting Indiana Bell in Indianapolis (317-265-7613).

Interviews

The post-game interview room in Notre Dame Stadium is located directly above the tunnel at the north end of the stadium—directly between the two teams' dressing rooms. Both head coaches appear in the interview room following the game—with the visiting coach generally appearing first.

Roger Valdiserri and John Heisler coordinate interviews both in the interview room and in the Notre Dame dressing room. Post-game quotes from the head coach and players of both teams also are available in the press box following the game.

Interviews during the week with Gerry Faust or any Notre Dame players should be arranged through the Notre Dame Sports Information Department. Faust's best time for interviews is between 11:30 a.m. and 12 noon EST during the week.

Faust conducts a weekly teleconference-style press conference at 11:00 a.m. EST each Tuesday for the benefit of both local and out-of-town media. A two-minute recorded interview with Notre Dame's head coach also is available each week on the code-a-phone service. Please contact John Heisler for details on either arrangement.

Managers

The three senior managers for the 1982 Notre Dame football season are head manager Mark Langheim of Auburn, Ill., personnel manager Dave Kruszewski of Erie, Pa., and equipment manager Jim Rigali of Torrance, Calif.
